

Sky Log

Astrological Report for
Robin Williams
Jan 01, 2007 - Jan 01, 2008
by Steven Forrest

This sample report compliments of.

Caduceus Astrology

www.myspace.com/caduceus_astrology

Your Chart Data

Name: Robin Williams

Date: Jul 21, 1951

Time: 01:34:00 PM

CDT +05:00

Place: Chicago, IL

087W39'00" 41N51'00"

Planet	Sign	Position	House	House
Sun	Cancer	28°Ca11'	09th	01 00°Sc55'
Moon	Pisces	08°Pi57'	04th	02 29°Sc07'
Mercury	Leo	22°Le04'	10th	03 01°Cb47'
Venus	Virgo	10°Vi11'	10th	04 07°Aq10'
Mars	Cancer	11°Ca54'	09th	05 10°Pi22'
Jupiter	Aries	13°Ar53'	06th	06 08°Ar17'
Saturn	Virgo	27°Vi51'	11th	07 00°Ta55'
Uranus	Cancer	10°Ca50'	09th	08 29°Ta07'
Neptune	Libra	16°Li54'	12th	09 01°Ca47'
Pluto	Leo	18°Le49'	10th	10 07°Le10'
Midheaven	Leo	07°Le10'	10th	11 10°Vi22'
Ascendant	Scorpio	00°Sc55'	01st	12 08°Li17'

Sky Log

Steven Forest

Traditional astrologers "make predictions." Often they are correct. But right or wrong, "predictions" turn you into a marionette, with the planets holding your strings. And in my opinion, that is not a very inspiring description of the way the cosmos works, nor a very accurate one. You are vastly more powerful than that. You can, to a great extent, shape your own life. That at least is my belief. The future isn't crystallized. It's a wavering, quivering web of possibilities. How will they manifest? Much depends upon how you wield the magical wild card we call your freedom.

So, what's the use of astrology? In a nutshell, it can help you make better choices. The planets never give a definitive answer to the question "What will happen to me?" Instead, they ask the question. But they ask the question in a very specific way: "Given everything you are, all the bridges you've crossed, all the contracts you've signed, there are several possibilities for what you might do next..." In other words, "Here's the menu. What are you having?"

Question mark.

And the question mark is the most important part of the whole inquiry, because that's where the uncertainty -- and your freedom -- lies. But the planets do even more. They offer advice. In a sense, they recommend certain choices over others. They seem biased toward your evolution. They often suggest that you take the less familiar path, the one that moves you into richer fields of your own potentiality. The planets express this rather philosophical bias in a very concrete way. Typically, when you make a less energetic response to a planetary question, the results, while initially comfortable, rapidly turn painful. Sometimes the pain is immediate and dramatic, as in the collapse of an important relationship. Other times, it's more subtle, as in the degeneration of life into deadening boredom and ritual. Either way, sooner or later we know you made a wrong turn somewhere.

In the pages that follow, we will be exploring the coming months of your life from this planetary perspective. There are three parts to the report, and any or all of them may be included here, depending on which have been requested. First, the big questions. In the part of the report called THE INVITATION, we try to get that "mountain-top" perspective that enables us to make sense of the details. In THE MEANS, we turn our attention to some secondary factors that offer suggestions, help, and support in responding to those big questions. And finally, we'll look at the report period month-by-month, day-by-day, to get some ground-level insight into THE DETAILS. Your report may be for three, six, nine, or twelve months and may include any or all three sections just described. For this reason, and because some years in your life are astrologically more active than others, report length can vary quite a bit.

Throughout the following text, I'll be endeavoring to write in plain English, but if you're unfamiliar with the jargon of astrology, you'll encounter a few words that may require definition. A "transiting" planet, for example, refers to the actual, current position of that planet in the sky. Sometimes the transiting planets form critical geometric angles with the "natal" planets in the birthchart, triggering developmental questions in your life. These critical angles are called "aspects."

The "progressed" planets function in much the same way as the transiting planets, but we approach them a little differently. They're like a script that's been built into your birthchart. Just as we know that an oak tree will emerge from an acorn and bring forth its leaves in season, similarly each person's birthchart contains within it the seeds of certain predictable developmental stages. Progressions spell out those stages.

So sit back, open your mind, and engage your heart. It's time to consider...

The Invitation

Some years loom large in our memories decades down the road; others are blurry, easily forgotten. That universal human reality is reflected in the movements of the planets -- astrologically speaking, one year is often far more significant than another, just as in life. Most of the really important celestial factors move rather slowly; thus, it's not unusual to experience a time in which none of them have gone critical, when we can calmly keep on putting one foot after the other, on "cruise control."

Well, for you this is definitely not that kind of year. Something truly pivotal is occurring...

Pr. Moon is Opposite Pr. Sun

In effect: Mar 25, 2007 - May 20, 2007

Peak Date(s): Apr 22, 2007

The Hindus tells us that no one gets enlightened until all their dreams come true. It's an enigmatic little proverb, with an ominous aftertaste. The notion of our dreams coming true sounds like good news on the face of it, but there's a spooky feeling to the words. Basically what's at issue here is the way our desires bind us. We set wheels turning, often with great enthusiasm, only to find out that these wheels are harder to stop than they were to start, and that sometimes they lead us in unintended directions. You set some wheels turning in your own life about a decade and a half ago; that period coincided with an astrological event called the progressed New Moon. What you're experiencing now is the natural outcome of those decisions and commitments: the progressed Full Moon.

Technically, what's happening is that your progressed Moon is standing across the chart from the progressed Sun in an "opposition" aspect. And that's exactly what creates the actual monthly Full Moon in the sky -- the two bodies are opposite each other -- which is why the Full Moon always rises exactly at sunset. At your progressed New Moon, about fifteen years back, a kind of "melt-down" occurred in your life. You were ready for a new start, almost like a new incarnation. Pivotal biographical events probably occurred then, but the real action was inside you as a new vision formed in the core of your character. Those needs, instincts, and desires have been translating themselves into actual life-circumstances ever since, and they've gathered terrific momentum. What was a "dream" at your progressed New Moon so long ago is now a reality.

Often the progressed Full Moon coincides with a kind of high-water mark in one's outward affairs. Things look pretty good. People who don't know you well imagine you to be in an enviable position. You seem to have gotten what you wanted. Inwardly, though, it often feels rather anticlimactic...not bad usually, just a little thin. Less commonly, the progressed Full Moon brings into full visible manifestation qualities in a person that lead to catastrophe or punishment. Either way, the point is exactly the same: your dreams have come true. What you set into motion about fifteen years ago is now "out there," visible, for all to see in the spotlight.

The invitation for you now is to shift gears. You're beginning the waning cycle of the Moon. This in no way means that "it's all down hill from here," or that you'll lose the success you've created. It's more in the category of an attitude adjustment. The waxing cycle, now completed, was a pioneering, building, outstretching time. That must now give way to a more reflective period. The images that come to mind are of "tending your own garden" or simply "sitting by the river." Outward successes just won't do for you what they've done in the past. It's not that you are about to start failing in the world; more like the world is going to start failing to satisfy you. And that partly explains the anticlimactic feeling most of us experience at this period. Now that you've built your castle, you find that your spirit is turning away from it. No problem; just trust the process.

One illustration: a businessperson sets a long-term financial goal. Year by year, she moves toward it. The process of attaining the goal satisfies and inspires her. At her progressed Full Moon she reaches it -- and feels that telltale feeling: is this all there is? If she's wise, she relaxes, put less energy into her business and more into her inner life, her friendships, her creativity. But if she's destined to serve as a bad example, she immediately, compulsively sets a higher, more demanding business goal. And she may very well attain it! But it means nothing to her. And her soul begins to feel more and more like sawdust and cobwebs. The Moon appears full to our eyes for about three nights, even though we can be extremely precise and say "the Full Moon occurs at 9:17 this evening." Similarly, your Full Moon period lasts about three years, but it is precise Apr 22, 2007.

Tr. Saturn is Sextile Ascendant

In effect: Sep 1, 2007 - Sep 18, 2007

Peak Date(s): Sep 9, 2007

The planet Saturn is currently casting a gray light on your circumstances -- but is it the bleak gray of sorrow or the clear, comforting gray of wisdom and digested experience? That's the choice. Saturn is classically viewed as the "bad" planet, the "Greater Malefic." Don't believe it! Used correctly, its transits can bring dignity and self-respect. Essentially, Saturn is about maturity. The part of your life that's being touched by the Saturnian energies needs to grow up...which, despite the lies we're all told, is not a process one mysteriously completes on one's twenty-first birthday. There is an area of your life where you have simply outgrown yourself, at least inwardly. The task now is to adjust your outward circumstances to reflect the maturity you've already attained psychically and invisibly. It is a material problem, not fundamentally a psychological one. To succeed, there is first a need to face reality squarely, even if it's unsavory. Then to make a hard choice...that is, to reach an emotional bottom line and not be crippled by your awareness of the ambiguities in your situation. And finally, in a spirit of commitment, persistence, and self-discipline, to claim those circumstances in your life which reflect the hard inner work you've been doing over the last few years. That's Saturn in general. Specifically, Saturn is sextile your natal Ascendant: Sep 9, 2007.

Currently Saturn is steering a course through your Tenth House. That's the traditional "House of Career," and any planet passing through that part of your natal chart suggests that external developmental pressures are now arising which have the effect of modifying your place in the world. Something is brewing in your profession or vocation, or in your social status -- the way you look to people who don't really know you very well. What is it? We can't say exactly, but to respond optimally to the potentials and challenges built into this event, you'll need to act according to the spirit of Saturn, as we just described it. But what's the core issue? What part of your own life is at stake? To answer that, we turn our attention to the Ascendant, which is being invited into development by these professional or social openings.

Like the rest of us, you are a complicated, paradoxical individual, full of contradictions and undercurrents. That's human. But another part of being human is that, like the rest of us, you need to get out of bed in the morning and put on a streamlined, simplified social mask that allows you to function in the social beehive. There's no way that you can have a truly intimate relationship with every face you see in your daily life, nor would you likely want such connections. So we all keep much of what we really are behind our astrological Ascendant, which symbolizes that mask. Physically, it is simply the sign that was dawning in the east at the instant of your birth...and symbolically it represents how you "dawn" on people who don't know you very well. When triggered by a passing transit or progression, the Ascendant signals the need to make some adjustments in the way you present yourself in the social world, so that your outer appearance remains reasonably aligned with who you have become inwardly. The work is superficial; which is not to say unimportant. Often it has to do with changing how you hold your body, the way you speak, and the clothes you wear.

The aspect pervading the event we've just considered is, as we observed, a sextile. Technically, that refers to a geometric angle of 60 degrees between the natal planet and the moving one. Sextiles are traditionally viewed as "good" aspects. Certainly, they're exciting. There is a mood of eagerness regarding the process we're exploring here -- and that's glorious, provided you're wary of the excessive impulsiveness that sextiles sometimes breed. In any case, the spinning wheel of circumstances can be counted on to provide some fortuitous, unexpected opportunities for you during this period. You'll have to be quick to seize them, though. They're real, but they're short-lived.

Tr. Saturn is Opposite Moon

In effect: Nov 23, 2007 - continuing

Peak Date(s): sometime after the report period.

Saturn played a role earlier in this account. Now it emerges again, in a new way. To refresh your memory, Saturn is ultimately the planet of maturity. It always places a strong emphasis upon hard work, decisive choices, and persistence. Saturn currently is opposite your natal Moon. The energies crest sometime after the report period..

Currently Saturn is navigating your Tenth House. That's the traditional "House of Career," as we've already discovered, and it tells us that something of the nature of Saturn is brewing in your profession or vocation, or in your social status. To respond optimally to the potentials and challenges built into this event, you'll need to act according to the spirit of Saturn, as we just described it. Being true to yourself is the challenge, as is generally the case in life. But your public life, with all its superficialities and practical pressures, is perhaps the hardest place in which to live up to that ideal. To succeed here, pay special attention to the Moon, which is being invited into development during this time of professional or public reorientation.

Astrology is the basic "programming language" of human consciousness. That may seem like a bold claim, but it's easily tested and proven. Pick someone who imagines he or she knows nothing at all about astrology. Ask them what the Moon means. After an initially dumbfounded look, you'll probably get an answer such as, "I dunno...feelings?" Which is quite correct. The mind naturally associates the Moon with darkness, with moonlight...and therefore with ghosts and romance, magic and tears, vulnerability and exhilaration: emotions. Deep inside us all is a subjective realm. Love and hate, joy and sorrow, dwell there. So do our daydreams and our creativity. If we could "average" a person's mood over a lifetime, we'd have an excellent profile of his or her Moon. When the Moon is triggered into development by a passing transit or progression, your inner life is stimulated. You feel stirred up. Powerful currents of emotional energy, for weal or woe, are released into your psyche. The very basis of happiness for you is evolving.

Maintaining a healthy relationship with the force of the Moon is particularly central to your well-being in one key area: the Fourth House, which is where the Moon happened to be located when you took your first breath in Chicago,IL. There, in the domain of home and hearth and also of emotional and psychological processes, a strong response to this planet forges in you a clear sense of who you are and what you want. Happiness has different sources for different people. For you, much of it comes from experiences connected to the Moon, as we just portrayed it. Claim them! Always sound advice -- but how you go about claiming them is currently evolving, partly as a result of changing external circumstances.

The geometric angle or "aspect" involved in the process we are studying is, as we said, the opposition. Not surprisingly, this suggests that the natal planet and the moving one are 180 degrees apart. Tension is thus woven into the spirit of this period of your life. The two forces we described are polarized, which often translates emotionally into a feeling of being damned if you do, and damned if you don't. How can you break the logjam? Recognize that any impossibilities you are experiencing in this area probably arise from an incomplete or biased perspective. The opposition aspect always calls for a leap into a new, more accepting level of consciousness. Something is missing in your view of the problem -- and that missing link (here's the corker...) lies in the wisdom embodied by those people or situations that are now antagonizing you. It's not that they're right and you're wrong; only that the truth that can carry you beyond this impasse lies somewhere between the two positions.

What we've considered above is the underpinning of this phase of your life. It's truly elemental material -- the stuff of which milestones are made. There's no guarantee that astrological forces of such magnitude will be activated for everyone all the time. What follows is an analysis of some slightly less portentous dimensions of your astrological picture...less portentous, but still powerful enough to qualify as part of this year's "Invitation."

Try to see what follows in the light of all that's gone before...

Tr. Neptune is Opposite Pluto

In effect: in progress - Dec 16, 2007

Peak Date(s): Jan 21, 2007

The planet Neptune is presently tinting and shading your biography, adding its dreamlike quality to the existential stew. Close your eyes; there's a world in there. That's Neptune, the planet of consciousness itself. Now open your eyes. There's a world out there too, and it's hard to ignore it. In fact, the outer world has become so pressing in its demands that you've partly lost contact with the inner one. But Neptune, transiting through sensitive territories for you now, is fixing that. Your inner world is so full it's brimming over, overflowing its banks into your daily life. If you resist the process, you'll find a host of Neptune problems plaguing you: losing the car keys, forgetting to pay the electric bill, having the attention span of a three-year-old on a sugar jag. But there's an alternative: trust the process. Slow down. Meditate. Let the images come. Mould opinions. Breathe in, breathe out. Why? Because your unconscious mind has a message for you. It has to do with the possibility of happiness for you over the next few years, about how old sources of joy are drying up and -- critically -- about new ones you must learn to recognize. How do you receive the message? You stop resisting. You simply let it in. That's Neptune in the broad sense. How is it effecting you specifically? Neptune is opposite your natal Pluto: Jan 21, 2007.

First we must recognize that the action and the developmental pressures are rooted in the Fourth House, for that's the region of your birthchart through which Neptune is currently passing. Immediately that realization places our attention on two fundamental areas: The first is your home and family, which may well be making their needs felt now in the "key" of Neptune. And the second, often confused by the first, is your own happiness and that deep soul-feeling inside yourself to which you must be true if your life is to stay on course. Under this kind of stimulation, a person often benefits from considering his or her deepest beliefs and attitudes from a conventional psycho-therapeutic perspective -- which in essence is to say, "Figure out what mom and dad taught you," and drop what is no longer consistent with your own course. But what's the issue? What part of your own life is at stake? To answer that, we turn our attention to Pluto, which is being invited into development by these familial and emotional pressures.

Everyone has fears. Everyone has shames and wounded places. In you and me and everyone else, there are marks left by the times we've been lied to, abandoned, used, or exploited. It's not the world's cheeriest subject, but turning away only empowers those Plutonian hurts, gives them more latitude to influence your life. When your natal Pluto is triggered by a passing transit or progression, dark shadows are stirred within you. It's a signal that forgotten, unprocessed, or repressed elements of your personal history are asking to be investigated. The procedure requires intensity, honesty, and emotional courage. The results are worth the effort. If you work well with these energies, you emerge stronger, clearer, and often with renewed inspiration. If you hesitate, it's not unusual for the old wounding dramas to be re-enacted in your life.

In what way do those notions connect with your present circumstances? Understand that Pluto occupies the Tenth House of your natal chart, an area which refers to issues of career, status, and your public role...concerns which are currently undergoing considerable developmental pressure and change. All positive steps in terms of profession or your place in the community hold one point in common: they move you further and further in the direction of Pluto, as we just described it. Any work that will prove enduringly satisfying invokes the considerable energies of Pluto in you; any work that does not embody them will turn out to be transitory or deadening.

When wide-open Neptune merges with the piercing perspectives of Pluto, you enter a long period of philosophical rumination. That may sound rather pale, but in fact the nature of your belief-system is probably the greatest single determinant of the shape of your life. And yours is up for review. The aim lies in establishing a balance between hard psychological honesty on one hand and the human need for inspiration and faith on the other.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by an opposition, which suggests some kind of tension or tug-of-war between them. You are asked to adjust your position, to adapt to the demands of the world around you, and to find a middle-ground between the various opposing needs and values.

Tr. Saturn is Conjunct Mercury

In effect: Jan 23, 2007 - Jul 7, 2007

Peak Date(s): Feb 5, 2007; Jun 28, 2007

Saturn played a role earlier in this account. Now it emerges again, in a new way. To refresh your memory, Saturn is ultimately the planet of maturity. It always places a strong emphasis upon hard work, decisive choices, and persistence. Saturn currently is conjunct your natal Mercury. The energies crest Feb 5, 2007; Jun 28, 2007.

Currently Saturn is navigating your Tenth House. That's the traditional "House of Career," as we've already discovered, and it tells us that something of the nature of Saturn is brewing in your profession or vocation, or in your social status. To respond optimally to the potentials and challenges built into this event, you'll need to act according to the spirit of Saturn, as we just described it. Being true to yourself is the challenge, as is generally the case in life. But your public life, with all its superficialities and practical pressures, is perhaps the hardest place in which to live up to that ideal. To succeed here, pay special attention to Mercury, which is being invited into development during this time of professional or public reorientation.

Your quickness, your alertness, your curiosity -- those are the dimensions of your life dominated by the planet Mercury. To say that Mercury represents your intelligence is quite accurate, but it's more connected to the natural style of your intelligence: not so much how smart you are as what interests you, and how your intelligence can be employed most pleasurably and efficiently. Intimately linked to such cerebral concerns is the question of your ability to communicate, since ideally there is some relationship between speech and forethought. Thus Mercury, the traditional Messenger of the Gods, is associated with both thought and conversation. When stimulated by a passing transit or progression, Mercury tends to speed up the flow of data in your life. You learn. You listen. You speak. Often events move at a hasty pace, and there's a feeling of excitement mixed with over-extension.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with

Mercury, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When Mercury mingles with Saturn, a thoughtful, reflective perspective enters the mind. This is a season of earnest study, of necessary but often rather plodding kinds of work. A precise, careful, conservative approach generally produces the best results. And, present cultural mythology aside, the cultivation of a degree of calculated pessimism often helps one evade costly blunders as these two planets interact.

As we mentioned, the aspect involved in the event we just described is the conjunction, which refers to a precise alignment between the natal planet and the moving trigger. Thus, the process emphasizes fusion, integration, and synthesis. Of all the possible aspects, the conjunction is the most intense. The explosion rattles your outward circumstances; but it originates inside you, and puts you in the driver's seat. It is appropriate for you to claim some new level of power, of self-expression, and of autonomy. If you don't, no one will do it for you; and the opportunity will evaporate.

Tr. Pluto is Square Saturn

In effect: in progress - Dec 24, 2007

Peak Date(s): Jan 25, 2007; Jun 10, 2007; Nov 26, 2007

The planet Pluto is shading the spirit of your life nowadays, and in a nutshell that means that you are being challenged to heal. Pluto, as you probably know, is the lord of the underworld...or to put it more succinctly, the God of Hell. And it is disquieting, to say the least, to imagine that this deity is currently dining at your table. But take heart! The "hell" inside you needs airing out, and that is essentially what this transit is about. You've been hurt. You've been used, abused, rejected, exploited, lied to...the whole sad litany. And, like the rest of us, you've sometimes had to keep the proverbial stiff upper lip and simply get on with your life. But where does all that hurt go? Down deep into the unconscious mind, where it stays until you're clear enough and strong enough to handle resurrecting it and really going beyond it. Pluto's action is to bring up buried emotions. Its tone is intense. It often feels moody and confrontative. It can destabilize and disrupt the areas of your life that it's touching. The best course is to resolve to go deeper and deeper, truth above kindness and resolution over comfort. It's not easy, but in the end the energizing and empowering of the psyche make the process worthwhile. What is Pluto actually doing? Currently it is square your natal Saturn. Although Pluto is a slow-moving planet and usually unfolds its story over a period of two or three years, during the period of this report the action peaks Jan 25, 2007; Jun 10, 2007; Nov 26, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Pluto is currently passing through your chart. And what does that signify? That the circumstances driving your development, at least in terms of this particular configuration, have to do with self-confidence...but not simply in the conventional psychological way. Here the self-confidence -- or lack of it -- is rooted in the quality and appropriateness of your resource-base. To use this time well, act in the spirit of Pluto, as we just described it, and claim what you need for your journey, whether this be money, connections, equipment, or skills. But what's the deeper issue? What part of your own life now hinges on your gathering the right tools, funds, and skills? To answer that, we turn our attention to Saturn, which is being invited into development by this quickening of your dignity, self-reliance, and aplomb.

Getting kicked out of the nest, one way or another, is an elemental part of life. Faced with the stark, unyielding actualities of the "real world," you either die then and there or get on with the cunning, calculating business of staying alive. To accomplish either of those ends, you activate the energies of your natal Saturn: your self-discipline, your patience, and your practicality...if you choose survival. And if you choose to give up, you withdraw into fear and probably get into a mood of despair and defeat. When Saturn is triggered by passing transits or progressions, it signals a time in which hard work is appropriate, necessary, and the best insurance for happiness. Often it suggests that the circumstances or even people who have been a significant part of your past must now be left behind, making way for a more mature expression of your identity.

While the energies of Saturn that we just described are obviously positive qualities for everyone, they play an especially personal part in your own well-being, looming larger and larger in your life as you mature. That's because Saturn lies in your natal Eleventh House, which pertains to your future, to your healthiest priorities, and to your most sustainable long-term strategies, all of which are well-described by that planet. Under the current stimulation of Saturn, an evolution in your goals is occurring, rendering some old dreams obsolete or complete as new, sometimes unexpected desires and values begin to make themselves felt. It is a season of re-orientation.

When sober-minded Saturn gets involved with dark-hearted Pluto, you'll have little patience for fluffy, frilly superficiality. This is a serious moment, something of a day of reckoning. Truths must be recognized and told. Lies must be illuminated, and demons named. You are ready. The situation is pressing. It will not go away or improve of its own accord. Take responsibility, move decisively, and do what must be done.

The aspect connected with the astrological process we're investigating here is the square, as we have seen. The square, traditionally characterized as an unfortunate aspect, describes a geometric angle of 90 degrees between the natal planet and the moving trigger. To call squares "bad" is misleading. More accurately, they are compelling. In the area of your life we're considering, a terrific friction has arisen. It's not comfortable, but it is an extremely effective motivator. The trick in using the energy creatively lies in moving decisively -- determining precisely what you want, claiming it, and letting the rest go. A season of tough choices is upon you. Regarding the process we described in the previous paragraphs, there are costs involved in all the courses available to you...the most costly, for all concerned, being the course of indecision.

Tr. Saturn is Conjunct Pluto

In effect: Mar 6, 2007 - Jun 2, 2007

Peak Date(s): Mar 23, 2007; May 17, 2007

Saturn played a role earlier in this account. Now it emerges again, in a new way. To refresh your memory, Saturn is ultimately the planet of maturity. It always places a strong emphasis upon hard work, decisive choices, and persistence. Saturn currently is conjunct your natal Pluto. The energies crest Mar 23, 2007; May 17, 2007.

Currently Saturn is navigating your Tenth House. That's the traditional "House of Career," as we've already discovered, and it tells us that something of the nature of Saturn is brewing in your profession or vocation, or in your social status. To respond optimally to the potentials and challenges built into this event, you'll need to act according to the spirit of Saturn, as we just described it. Being true to yourself is the challenge, as is generally the case in life. But your public life, with all its superficialities and practical pressures, is perhaps the hardest place in which to live up to that ideal. To succeed here, pay special attention to Pluto, which is being invited into development during this time of professional or public reorientation.

The natal Pluto -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your own native capacity to probe into yourself and heal yourself. It always deals with the hurts associated with the humiliations and defeats that life has offered us, and the process of going beyond them.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Pluto, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When sober-minded Saturn gets involved with dark-hearted Pluto, you'll have little patience for fluffy, frilly superficiality. This is a serious moment, something of a day of reckoning. Truths must be recognized and told. Lies must be illuminated, and demons named. You are ready. The situation is pressing. It will not go away or improve of its own accord. Take responsibility, move decisively, and do what must be done.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a conjunction -- the most powerful of the geometric aspects and one that suggests convergence, intensification, and often a new beginning.

Pr. Mars is Conjunct Pluto

In effect: Mar 19, 2007 - continuing

Peak Date(s): sometime after the report period.

Two cats are discussing which cat rules the world. You've seen them...they glare at each other, inches apart, switching their tails. As soon as one of them flinches, the chase is on. The other cat lunges; the flincher flees. The curious thing is that the next day they might easily reverse roles, the pursuer becoming the pursued. Those cats give us an abject lesson in the ways of the planet Mars. Each of us, deep in our mammal-programming, contains a pair of primal behavioral routines: Fight and Flight. Dominance and Submission. Hunter and Prey. When the progressed Mars hits sensitive astrological territory, as it is doing for you currently, you are offered a choice: will you be courageous, or will you get hurt? It's raw and rough, and usually rather black and white.

Psychologically, the archetype that you're working with this year is that of the spiritual warrior. In that archetype, there may be violence, but no love of violence. There is skill with the "sword," but no love for the sword. Those who respond weakly to the challenges of the progressed Mars generally experience some kind of victimization: they are exploited, or abused, or get themselves into some kind of "accident." They often become depressed. But all that is quite optional! The higher road is to claim your courage. Assertiveness is always necessary, as is boundary-setting -- and boundary-defending. In some part of your life, you must learn to say "Enough!" Mars is linked to our ability to desire. When it progresses to a sensitive point, you are invited to claim what you want. But that claiming, however legitimate, calls for considerable intestinal fortitude.

Currently Mars is steering a course through your Tenth House. That's the traditional "House of Career," and any planet passing through that part of your natal chart suggests that external developmental pressures are now arising which have the effect of modifying your place in the world. Something is brewing in your profession or vocation, or in your social status -- the way you look to people who don't really know you very well. What is it? We can't say exactly, but to respond optimally to the potentials and challenges built into this event, you'll need to act according to the spirit of Mars, as we just described it. But what's the core issue? What part of your own life is at stake? To answer that, we turn our attention to Pluto, which is being invited into development by these professional or social openings.

How is the progressed Mars currently touching you? It is conjunct your natal Pluto: sometime after the report period.. In thinking about this, remember that progressions are slow-moving events and that the action simply peaks then; it will be in effect throughout the period of this report.

The natal Pluto -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your own native capacity to probe into yourself and heal yourself. It always deals with the hurts associated with the humiliations and defeats that life has offered us, and the process of going beyond them.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Pluto, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When Mars connives with Pluto, you are lean, hungry, and ready to demand that your legitimate needs be met. Your desires are clear; they may also be unsettling, uncomfortable, even a little shocking. But they are clear, and your appetites are ravenous. The question is, what to do with them? There is a middle path between sheer Machiavellian selfishness and shallow, sugary-sweet, truth-denying "goodness." Your task is to find it.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a conjunction -- the most powerful of the geometric aspects and one that suggests convergence, intensification, and often a new beginning.

Tr. Neptune is Opposite Mercury

In effect: Mar 24, 2007 - Jul 28, 2007

Peak Date(s): sometime after the report period.

Neptune played a part earlier in this report, but it has another trick or two up its sleeve. You may remember that this planet refers to letting down barriers and allowing the creative unconscious to speak. When handled well, it triggers a "seed time" in which new inspirations arise. If handled poorly, one tends to go off half-cocked while enamored of unrealistic ideas. So sit tight, enter trance, pay attention to your dreams and, if you're so inclined, pray or meditate.

Neptune currently is opposite your natal Mercury. The inner opening process peaks sometime after the report period..

First let's note that the action and the developmental pressures are rooted in the Fourth House, a dimension of your birthchart we've encountered before, for that's the house through which Neptune is currently passing. Two areas are immediately focalized: your domestic or familial environment (which is now likely to make its presence felt in the spirit and mood of Neptune) and that deep soul-feeling inside yourself to which you must be true if your life is to stay on course. We could call it your personal myth, or more simply your bliss. And again, in staying true to those levels of your being, you must now stay true to Neptune. But what are the core questions? What area of your life is most affected by these domestic or psychological developments? The answer lies with Mercury, which is being invited into development during this long talk with yourself and the resultant sorting out of your real essence from your family training.

The natal Mercury -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your intelligence, your capacity to communicate, and your fundamental curiosity.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Mercury, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When quick-witted Mercury merges with spacey Neptune, the mind is often a bit befuddled. And there is definitely a heightened tendency to carefully file the bananas in the socks-drawer. Such embarrassments aside, the combination is actually a very fertile one for the creative imagination. The mind naturally turns now to the mystical, the metaphorical, and the symbolic, where the Neptunian energies are always at home.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by an opposition, which suggests some kind of tension or tug-of-war between them. You are asked to adjust your position, to adapt to the demands of the world around you, and to find a middle-ground between the various opposing needs and values.

Pr. Ascendant is Square Venus

In effect: in progress - Jul 18, 2007

Peak Date(s): sometime before the report period.

"Style" -- the word, even if you're a very stylish individual, conveys something rather superficial and transitory. Yet none of us can avoid it: all of us, from the chic Parisian model to the most homespun field hippie, radiate style. It's the inevitable outward expression of our inner processes. If we didn't have style, no one would know we were here. Astrologically, your style is symbolized by the Ascendant, which is simply the sign that was rising in the east at the time you were born...or the sign that was "dawning" -- which is a good way to say it, because the Ascendant represents how you "dawn" on people: the first impression you make, the way you initially, spontaneously present yourself. Like every other aspect of your being, your style must evolve for you to avoid becoming stagnant. And that process is represented by your progressed ascendant, which is currently making some delicate transitions.

Often the changes we make under this kind of astrological influence have to do with very simple things: the kinds of clothes we wear, our way of speaking, hairstyle, body posture, our "manners." It's important to get the changes right, even though they are basically superficial adjustments. Why? Picture this: you're spending the evening with an old friend whom you've not seen for many years. Reflexively, unconsciously, you drift back into playing your old role. How do you feel? A little distant from yourself? Vaguely phony? The word "goofy" comes to mind. Now, imagine the evening stretched into weeks, months, years. That is the pitfall you are invited to avoid this year! The changes you've been creating in your deep psyche, all those profound realizations and insights you've been generating, must be translated into the surface of your character...into style. Authenticity is the aim. Succeed, and you'll feel more at ease with yourself, more spontaneous, and more comfortable in the social situations that occupy so many of the hours of our lives.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where the Ascendant is currently passing through your chart. And what does that signify? That the circumstances driving your development, at least in terms of this particular configuration, have to do with self-confidence...but not simply in the conventional psychological way. Here the self-confidence -- or lack of it -- is rooted in the quality and appropriateness of your resource-base. To use this time well, act in the spirit of the Ascendant, as we just described it, and claim what you need for your journey, whether this be money, connections, equipment, or skills. But what's the deeper issue? What part of your own life now hinges on your gathering the right tools, funds, and skills? To answer that, we turn our attention to Venus, which is being invited into development by this quickening of your dignity, self-reliance, and aplomb.

How is the progressed Ascendant currently touching you? It is square your natal Venus: sometime before the report period.. In thinking about this, remember that progressions are slow-moving events and that the action simply peaks then; it will be in effect throughout the period of this report.

Venus is the goddess of love, of peace, and of the arts. In each domain, balance is the ideal. Deep in your psyche, there is a place that seeks the comfort of balance and equilibrium, whether through shared fondness with another human being, an hour's peace in the garden, or the rapture that sometimes arises as we immerse our hearts and minds in something beautiful. That inner circuit is your natal Venus. When it is stimulated, we often see experiences arising which prophesy a change in your relationships, in what gives you serenity, or in your aesthetic experiences.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Venus, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a square -- traditionally seen as a "bad" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply frictional. Squares generally suggest tough choices, external pressures, and at least some stress.

Pr. Moon enters Aries

Date: Nov 23, 2007 - Continuing

You don't need to be an astrologer to know what the Moon means. Just engage your imagination. Immediately, the mind free-associates. Moon: night...feelings...falling in love...seeing a ghost... And that's pretty much what astrologers throughout history have said: the Moon represents your interior life, your "heart." Like all astrological factors, the Moon progresses, taking a little over a quarter of a century to make one circuit around the chart. It typically spends a couple of years in each sign or house, and eventually forms aspects with all the planets. How do we read it? Simple: at any given moment the progressed Moon tells us where your heart is. Or, to be a little less schmaltzy about it, the Moon says where your attention is. What is concerning you. Where your growth experiences are unfolding -- which is often to say where you're experiencing challenges, upsets, or opportunities to regroup and express yourself in new ways. Being an emotional factor, the progressed Moon always refers to areas of heightened sensitivity. Intuition comes to the forefront. Instincts must be followed. Somehow the unconscious mind has gotten ahead of conscious awareness, and now conscious awareness is catching up, following the trail of intuitive clues and impulses laid down by the wise, dark interior of your spirit.

How is the progressed Moon currently impacting on you? It enters the sign Aries: Nov 23, 2007.

Aries represents courage. It is the zodiac's first sign, and it illustrates some truly primal instincts. Survival, above all else...and survival in a world that is characterized by something of an "eat or be eaten" mentality. Thus, Aries lessons often concern existential swordsmanship -- the right and appropriate expression of anger, boundary-defending skills, ways of claiming our rights. When such energy is turned on in our lives by passing astrological forces, we tend to draw to ourselves patterns of circumstance which call for enormous outpourings of bravery. We encounter adversaries, competitors, enemies, and opponents. Often we face nerve-tingling adventures or crises. The peril is not fear, exactly...fear is a natural emotional response to real threats...but rather panic, which is a loss of Will, Intention, and Control in the face of fear. Always, the opportunity to learn courage is there -- and always, the opportunity to run away. Paradoxically, it is in that running away that we often experience the greatest pain... the "be eaten" side of our Arian equation. Not to trivialize it, but one can view an Arian episode as a course in assertiveness training, a sort of psycho-spiritual "basic training" which empowers you to seize other, more subtle experiences down the road.

Tr. Jupiter aligns with the Third House cusp

Date: Dec 26, 2007 - Continuing

The planet Jupiter is currently coloring your circumstances. Before we say exactly how, let's attempt to understand the more general significance of any Jupiter event. Essentially, this is a call to recognize an opportunity. Traditional astrologers view it more starkly -- to them, it is simply the planet of luck. And that is often the case: the toast does tend to land butter-side up when Jupiter is crossing sensitive territories. But the real, evolutionary meaning lies deeper. One key is that Jupiter is future-oriented...it is concerned with bright, unexplored possibilities. Stripped to its bones, Jupiter always asks one primary question: how have you been underestimating yourself? Its transits signal a time when new opportunities come into existence, but to seize them you must recognize that you deserve them, that you are capable of rising to them, and that old deals and compromises are finished. Trust yourself, have faith in life, and go for it: that's the spirit of Jupiter. How is it affecting you? Jupiter is conjunct your natal Third House cusp: Dec 26, 2007.

Serendipity -- that's the heart of the Third House. Bumping into the unexpected. Learning something utterly new. Traditionally seen as the "House of Communication," this phase of one's life is often characterized by an emphasis upon language. Writing, reading, teaching, learning, speaking, listening...all these are certainly Third House activities. But the essence of the house lies in the experience of surprise.

Jupiter is currently entering your Third House; and under that kind of stimulation, boring routine is your worst enemy, even if those routines are laudably responsible, moral, and productive. The mind hungers for the unexpected...and often gets it. There is a tendency during such phases for the "wild card" elements of human life to occupy center stage. The unpredictable occurs; the proverbial monkey wrench is hurled into your carefully-laid plans. You are pressured to adapt, to change, to open your mind in the direction of Jupiter. People of the nature of Jupiter come into your circle now who are message-bearers; they offer ideas, books, excursions into exotic neighborhoods. Underlying the apparent randomness of this phase of your life is one unifying principle: slowly, methodically, your attachment to certain familiar ways of thinking is being undermined.

Ultimately, the Third House represents a time of preparation...and it feels that way, although you are not sure exactly for what you are being prepared. Trust the process; a seed grows best in broken soil.

The Means

If you happen to have a cold on the day you win the lottery, will that taint your memory of the big event? Probably not. Ten years later, you will have forgotten your runny nose. Ten minutes later, more likely.

Life and memory work that way. We prioritize certain kinds of events, experiencing them more vividly and remembering them far longer than the trivial and the predictable. The details of a typical Monday morning aren't going to last as long in the memory banks as images of your moment of glory or your darkest hour.

In exactly the same way, not all astrological events have the same impact. What we have considered so far are all first-string milestones in your life. The rest of what we'll be considering is less central -- but that's not to say unimportant. What follows is a set of supplementary transits and progressions, presented chronologically. They're not quite as profound in their implications as what we've seen, but they're not without emotional and existential consequences. If what we have explored in the previous pages can be viewed as an evolutionary invitation, then, to that lofty end, what follows is....

"The Means"

As you'll see, each of these events stands as significant in its own right. But their deepest meanings lie in the way they interact with what we've considered in the pages above, enhancing and sometimes complicating the broader developmental patterns.

Cards on the table: you can skim the next several pages and, I think, learn some things about the coming months that will prove prophetic...and more importantly, helpful. But the real magic lies in putting all the pieces together, synthesizing them in your heart into an emotional whole -- just like you've done with, say, memories of a special summer long ago. No computer can do that for you.

Your own creativity, your own reflections on the material we're covering, your own translations, additions, corrections, amendments, and meditations -- these are what make the difference.

Let's continue.

Tr. Jupiter is Square Moon

In effect: in progress - Aug 10, 2007

Peak Date(s): Jan 4, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is square your natal Moon. The action peaks Jan 4, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with the Moon, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

The natal Moon -- that, as we have seen, represents your inner life, your emotions, moods, and attitudes.

Your Fourth House figured previously in this report. Now we see it triggered again -- a clue that in your present circumstances, one of the most active factors is the need for a radical clarification, in your own mind, of your personal needs and wishes. There is something inside you, something of the nature of the Moon, to which you must be true if you are to be happy. And it is now under accelerating developmental pressure. Some of this process may even involve some re-definition of your role in your family, broadly defined.

When the Moon interacts with Jupiter, the mood of life generally turns jovial and optimistic. There is an attitude of hopefulness and an alertness to possibility. It is a season of enhanced imagination, especially about your own potential future. In general, the best policy is to be bold in your dreaming, but cautious about signing on the dotted line. What you envision creatively now is probably quite sound, but it will want some editing in the cold light of dawn.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a square -- traditionally seen as a "bad" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply frictional. Squares generally suggest tough choices, external pressures, and at least some stress.

Tr. Jupiter is Square Venus

In effect: Jan 5, 2007 - Sep 5, 2007

Peak Date(s): Jan 10, 2007; Jul 25, 2007; Aug 20, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is square your natal Venus. The action peaks Jan 10, 2007; Jul 25, 2007; Aug 20, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with Venus, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

The natal Venus -- that, as we have seen, is where you store your romantic and affiliative sensibilities, along with your aesthetic tastes.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Venus, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When Venusian energies splice together with Jupiterian ones, opportunity (Jupiter) comes to you through other people (Venus). Sometimes what we might call "dumb luck" makes itself felt, but it doesn't hurt to help it along by understanding the planetary "rules of the game." Basically, they boil down to this: you've got to ask for what you want, you've got to know that you deserve it, and you've got to look that way...which is to say, there's no room for being apologetic, ashamed, or defensive.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a square -- traditionally seen as a "bad" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply frictional. Squares generally suggest tough choices, external pressures, and at least some stress.

Tr. Uranus is Trine Uranus

In effect: in progress - Jan 9, 2007

Peak Date(s): sometime before the report period.

The planet Uranus is presently stirring the pot of your life, and that always promises a tumultuous passage, peppered with unexpected developments and encounters. Outwardly, Uranus is the wild card, bringing unpredictable and unforeseen events into the picture. Inwardly, it signals a time of accelerated individuation...that is, a time in which who you really are and what you truly want are rapidly emerging and defining themselves. A portion of what you imagined to be your identity has, in fact, little to do with you; it is a side-effect of your social training, nothing more. And, like training wheels on a kid's bike, you are now ready to dump it. This has an unsettling effect upon not only yourself, but also those around you. Often during Uranian periods there is a distinct "changing of the guard" in our social circles; old relationships end, new ones appear. Claim your right to be yourself -- that's the essence of the transiting Uranus. Whatever it touches, changes. Trust the changes! Like a hard wind blowing the sand off a buried city, they are revealing who you actually have been all along. That's Uranus in general. Specifically, Uranus is trine your natal Uranus: sometime before the report period..

First, factor in that the action and the developmental invitation are unfolding in the Fifth House, for that's the region of your birthchart through which Uranus is now passing. Immediately, the focus on Fifth House energies suggests that you are currently entering an existential territory that requires creativity, unabashed self-expression, and experimental audacity. Your "inner child" is a little cranky now, demanding some fun and some self-indulgence, all of which is entirely necessary and appropriate to your journey at the present time. Thus, life's pleasures -- games, vacations, sports, loving interactions -- deserve attention now. Whether you know it or not, you need a boost...and you'll get it in part from the "playmates" and "new toys" of the nature of Uranus that are now passingly, fleetingly available to you. Don't let them get away! But what's the core issue? What part of your own health hinges on this renewal? To answer that, we turn our attention to Uranus, which is being invited into development by this period of playful, celebratory creativity.

There's a wild card in everyone, a rebellious, independent, free-spirited force that hates neckties and phony courtesies and all the slick moves that keep corporations and families from splitting apart. Astrologers call it Uranus. Stripped to its essence, this part of your astrological psyche is concerned primarily with the process of individuation, which boils down to whittling away all the parts of yourself which have arisen almost accidentally as side effects of your social background. When stimulated by transits or progressions, Uranus triggers your rebellions. It asks you to shed something unauthentic, unreal, or limiting in your life. Often it brings lightning-quick developments and unexpected circumstances. Almost always, there is a confrontation between you and some figure of authority, past or present.

How does all that relate to your present circumstances? Recognize that Uranus occupies the Ninth House of your natal chart, an area which refers to the human need for adventure, variety, and escape from the ordinary. Periodically in your life it becomes necessary to "throw a monkey wrench" into your daily routines, to flee the scene and thereby gain the kind of "mountain-top" philosophical perspective necessary to keep your biography on a meaningful course. Under this current aspect, you have entered such a period. One final hint: those ventures, vacations, and journeys work best for you if they invoke the tone of Uranus, as we just encountered it.

When Uranus relates to its own natal position, an invitation to individuate arises. Listen, and you'll detect a voice inside you that's tired of trying to keep everybody else happy, a voice that wants to tell the truth and then sit back and watch everybody blush, bluster, and burn. Trust it, and enjoy the show.

As we said, the aspect involved in the event we just described is the trine, which refers to a 120 degree angle between the natal planet and the moving one. Trines are traditionally viewed as positive aspects, and in fact they generally do correlate with opportunities. Additionally, their existence implies that support is available to you, if you are willing to move to claim it. And therein lies the rub with the so-called "good" aspects. They're not very dynamic. Just as pain is a more powerful motivator than contentment, the trick with trines lies in taking advantage of them before the wheel turns and their potential vanishes. With regard to the developments we described in the previous few paragraphs: a door is now open, a red carpet rolled out...but don't count on everything remaining that way forever.

Tr. Uranus is Trine Mars

In effect: in progress - Feb 1, 2007

Peak Date(s): Jan 10, 2007

Uranus came up earlier in this report. Now we encounter it again. As you may recall, this planet represents the "wild card" in life, and often correlates with unexpected events. Behind the roller-coaster ride, the real issue is your ability to claim your true individuality, even if that involves destabilizing certain aspects of your existing circumstances. Uranus currently is trine your natal Mars. The action peaks Jan 10, 2007.

First, factor in that the movement and the evolutionary invitation are occurring in the Fifth House, for that's the region of your birthchart through which Uranus is currently passing. We've met the symbolism of this house before: creativity, unabashed self-expression, and sheer playfulness. You've reached a point in your journey where you need your batteries recharged, your "inner child" re-invigorated. A general loosening up is required. Life's pleasures -- sports, games, vacations, new friends, loving interactions -- need to figure in your experience now. But what part of your being most requires this rejuvenation? The answer lies with Mars, which is being invited into development during this playful time of renewal and discovery.

Sheer animal vitality -- that's Mars. In your natal chart, it represents your boldness and your pluckiness: what gets your blood flowing. Or boiling. All passions are linked to Mars. Anger and your ability to defend your boundaries are part of the picture. So is your inner fire -- your enthusiasm, your intensity, your sexual desire. When triggered by a passing transit or progression, Mars often signals a "go for it" situation developing in your life, but to make the best of it, you'll need to be brave and assertive. Such transits or progressions can also warn you of upcoming battles, and in general it's wiser to seize the initiative rather than surrender your power to the whimsies of circumstance.

Your Ninth House engaged us previously in the report. Now we see it turned on again, indicating that your natural adventuresomeness and philosophical curiosity are at the heart of the present situation. Sometimes chances must be taken and leaps of faith made. This is such a time. Learn something new. Take a vacation to somewhere you've never been. In the spirit of Mars, blow out the cobwebs.

When Mars colludes with Uranus, a kind of personal revolution is in the air. Emotionally, an atmosphere of tension and annoyance often arises. Behind the smokescreen, a ragged but positive developmental process is unfolding: over the years, you have surrendered far too much of your autonomy and individuality. That's hurt you, and you're justifiably angry about it, even though it's at least partly your own "fault." So: don't just get mad...Get free! Express yourself. Claim what is yours. And let the chips fall where they may.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a trine -- traditionally seen as a "good" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply enhancing or supportive. Generally speaking, with trines there is an opportunity...but to seize it, you must supply the initiative.

Tr. Jupiter is Trine Jupiter

In effect: Jan 25, 2007 - Oct 5, 2007

Peak Date(s): Jan 31, 2007; Jun 14, 2007; Sep 28, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is trine your natal Jupiter. The action peaks Jan 31, 2007; Jun 14, 2007; Sep 28, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with Jupiter, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

Hope and faith are essential to sanity. Without at least a few bright dreams and expansive goals, a person grows flat and dull...becomes a time-server. The same can be said for self-confidence: we need it. And even if such assurance sometimes crosses the line into a sprinkle of arrogance, that's less troubling and limiting than sitting around afraid to take any risks at all. There is a gambler's circuit in your psyche that understands these notions perfectly well. Astrologers call it Jupiter. When stimulated by a passing transit or progression, it encourages you to extend yourself further into your world, to bet on yourself, and to recognize emerging opportunities. Be wary at the same time that you don't settle for glitter when gold may be just around the corner.

Sustaining steady contact with the energy of Jupiter, always good for you, now figures especially prominently in one critical dimension of your life: the Sixth House, which is where Jupiter lies in your birthchart. What themes or issues come to the fore here? Responsibilities, duties, and the fulfillment of your commitments. But before we start sounding too much like the Boy Scout Handbook, let's remember that the pivotal issue of the Sixth House lies in recognizing the exact nature of your proper obligations, and not letting yourself be cowed into signing up for boring, self-sacrificial martyrdoms that are none of your business anyway. Clarifying the exact location of the thin line between humility and humiliation is on the front burner for you now. One rule of thumb: when your duties have the flavor of Jupiter, you're on the right track.

When Jupiter interacts with its own natal position, as we see here, speculation and possibility arise. There is something available to you now which was not available before. It comes at least partly as a gift, or as what the world would call "blind luck." In fact, a more subtle law is in operation here: you've crafted a position of opportunity for yourself over the years. Now is the time to harvest it.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a trine -- traditionally seen as a "good" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply enhancing or supportive. Generally speaking, with trines there is an opportunity...but to seize it, you must supply the initiative.

Tr. Jupiter is Sextile Neptune

In effect: Feb 13, 2007 - Oct 23, 2007

Peak Date(s): Feb 20, 2007; May 20, 2007; Oct 17, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is sextile your natal Neptune. The action peaks Feb 20, 2007; May 20, 2007; Oct 17, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with Neptune, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

Close your eyes. Don't think of anything at all. Just be aware of all that infinite, dark space. Welcome to Neptune. In your natal chart, it represents the part of you that knows how to enter trance, to meditate, or to "space out." Everybody's got one, and everybody experiences that part of their consciousness from time to time. When triggered by transits or progressions, Neptune asks you to let go, to allow material to enter your mind uncensored and unstructured. It's more akin to feeling than thinking, but neither word captures it perfectly. Dreaming is the closest analogy...a sort of free-associative state in which your own mind works like an unpredictable movie theater. Why bother? Because such an astrological event signals that your unconscious mind or, if you prefer, your soul has an important message and is trying to get in touch with you.

The Twelfth House is where Neptune lies in your natal chart, and it is currently undergoing a lot of evolutionary emphasis. It is critical that you make an effort to get in touch with the energies of Neptune in yourself at this point. You need them, and you actually do have them available to you, but they've got a pattern of slipping away from your conscious control. Don't let it happen! Meditate on Neptune! Draw pictures of it and tape them to the refrigerator! Do what it takes to avoid shooting yourself in the foot, which is what will happen if you let circumstances bamboozle you out of these healing, balancing energies.

When Jupiter consorts with Neptune, there's a cliché that should never be too far from your mind: all that glitters is not gold. Don't be tempted by "extraordinary possibilities" now, at least not without a careful look at the fine print, a consultation with a sober friend, and a painstaking effort to consider worst-case scenarios. What is really going on here is that a bright new vision is slowly forming inside you. It's real -- or more accurately, it's going to be real. Don't mistake its glowing emotional aura for something that is actually, physically, available in the present context.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a sextile -- traditionally seen as a "harmonious" or "mutually enhancing" aspect, often full of fast-paced events and emotional stimulation.

Tr. Jupiter is Trine Pluto

In effect: Feb 28, 2007 - Nov 2, 2007

Peak Date(s): Mar 11, 2007; May 1, 2007; Oct 27, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is trine your natal Pluto. The action peaks Mar 11, 2007; May 1, 2007; Oct 27, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with Pluto, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

The natal Pluto -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your own native capacity to probe into yourself and heal yourself. It always deals with the hurts associated with the humiliations and defeats that life has offered us, and the process of going beyond them.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!)

activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Pluto, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When Jupiter gets hooked up with Pluto, think big and claim a victory. One is available, if you move decisively and know exactly what you really want. And therein lies the rub. All of us experience humiliating losses, insults, and defeats in the course of life. As you adapt to living with them, an attitude of disempowerment or futility can creep in. Conquering that mind-set is the real aim here. The truth is that psychologically you need a triumph now -- and synchronistically, the universe is ready to cooperate.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a trine -- traditionally seen as a "good" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply enhancing or supportive. Generally speaking, with trines there is an opportunity...but to seize it, you must supply the initiative.

Pr. Mars is Sextile Neptune

In effect: in progress - May 5, 2007

Peak Date(s): sometime before the report period.

Earlier in the report we discussed your progressed Mars. As you may remember, it symbolizes your courage and your rightful assertiveness. When it comes to a sensitive zone, as it is doing again now, you are faced with circumstances in which you need to be direct, blunt, and brave...or you'll get cast in the role of the victim. In addition to what we've already observed about the progressed Mars, it's active in another way as well. It is sextile your natal Neptune: sometime before the report period.. In thinking about this, remember that progressions are slow-moving events and that the action simply peaks sometime before the report period.; it will be in effect throughout the period of this report.

Currently Mars is navigating your Tenth House. That's the traditional "House of Career," as we've already discovered, and it tells us that something of the nature of Mars is brewing in your profession or vocation, or in your social status. To respond optimally to the potentials and challenges built into this event, you'll need to act according to the spirit of Mars, as we just described it. Being true to yourself is the challenge, as is generally the case in life. But your public life, with all its superficialities and practical pressures, is perhaps the hardest place in which to live up to that ideal. To succeed here, pay special attention to Neptune, which is being invited into development during this time of professional or public reorientation.

How is the progressed Mars currently touching you? It is sextile your natal Neptune: sometime before the report period.. In thinking about this, remember that progressions are slow-moving events and that the action simply peaks then; it will be in effect throughout the period of this report.

The natal Neptune -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes pure consciousness. It is the mystical planet, the part of your being that receives inspiration and, depending on your metaphysical tastes, either inner guidance or divine direction.

Your Twelfth House demanded our attention above; now we see it playing a part again, once more suggesting that the quality of your inner life is what's really at stake in the situation we're considering. Under such a stimulus, many times the most appropriate step includes a strategic retreat...and a realization that something inside you is wise enough, spiritual enough, transcendent enough to sustain losses with impunity, even with generosity. To move positively in the present environment, renew your sense of the sacred by withdrawing and immersing yourself in the spirit of Neptune, a planet which is functioning something like an inner guide for you in this lifetime.

When Mars colludes with Neptune, be wary of chasing mirages. Misguided, ill-conceived, and quixotic enterprises may tempt you; avoid them! What is going on here is that a vision-forming process (Neptune) is occurring in your desire-body (Mars). Translated: a new set of wants, aims, and goals is emerging from your unconscious mind...emerging, but not yet fully crystallized. This is fundamentally an inward process; mistaking it for an outward one leads to half-baked results. So wait a while.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a sextile -- traditionally seen as a "harmonious" or "mutually enhancing" aspect, often full of fast-paced events and emotional stimulation.

Pr. Moon is Opposite Saturn

In effect: Sep 1, 2007 - Oct 24, 2007

Peak Date(s): Sep 27, 2007

The progressed Moon figures in our thinking again. As you may recall, the Moon shows what you are feeling. It gives us insight into your mood, concerns, and general attitude...into "where your heart is," in other words.

First, factor in that the action and the developmental invitation are unfolding in the Fifth House, for that's the region of your birthchart through which the Moon is now passing. Immediately, the focus on Fifth House energies suggests that you are currently entering an existential territory that requires creativity, unabashed self-expression, and experimental audacity. Your "inner child" is a little cranky now, demanding some fun and some self-indulgence, all of which is entirely necessary and appropriate to your journey at the present time. Thus, life's pleasures -- games, vacations, sports, loving interactions -- deserve attention now. Whether you know it or not, you need a boost...and you'll get it in part from the "playmates" and "new toys" of the nature of the Moon that are now passingly, fleetingly available to you. Don't let them get away! But what's the core issue? What part of your own health hinges on this renewal? To answer that, we turn our attention to Saturn, which is being invited into development by this period of playful, celebratory creativity.

How is the progressed Moon currently impacting on you? It is opposite your natal Saturn: Sep 27, 2007. In thinking about this, remember that progressions are slow-motion events, and that this event simply peaks then; it will be affecting your mood for a period of two or three months on either side of that date.

The natal Saturn -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your capacity for self-discipline and patience. Generally, it marks an area where you will be challenged to achieve excellence...or tempted to give up and sink into sorrow and self-pity.

Your Eleventh House played a role earlier in the report; now we see it in the limelight again, once more telling us that your skill in forming necessary alliances and coalitions lies at the heart of the situation we're considering. Two reflections emerge. The first is that to succeed here you need to use all your social and political deftness...you can't do it alone, and the people upon whom you must rely are, to put it charitably, "human." The second is that to set appropriate priorities you must think deeply about what you want...which is to say, you need to know exactly what is worth fighting for and what you are willing to sacrifice. One hint: for you, the right answers nearly always have the tone of Saturn, a planet we described above.

When the Moon interacts with Saturn, the mood of life turns serious and quiet. Sadness, loneliness, and pessimism can arise, but they are not necessary. Essentially, this is a season of clear seeing in emotional matters. It calls for sober, realistic thinking and a willingness to be strong enough to call a spade a spade...even you'd prefer diamonds or hearts.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by an opposition, which suggests some kind of tension or tug-of-war between them. You are asked to adjust your position, to adapt to the demands of the world around you, and to find a middle-ground between the various opposing needs and values.

Pr. Moon is Trine Sun

In effect: Sep 9, 2007 - Nov 1, 2007

Peak Date(s): Oct 6, 2007

The progressed Moon figures in our thinking again. As you may recall, the Moon shows what you are feeling. It gives us insight into your mood, concerns, and general attitude...into "where your heart is," in other words.

First, factor in that the movement and the evolutionary invitation are occurring in the Fifth House, for that's the region of your birthchart through which the Moon is currently passing. We've met the symbolism of this house before: creativity, unabashed self-expression, and sheer playfulness. You've reached a point in your journey where you need your batteries recharged, your "inner child" re-invigorated. A general loosening up is required. Life's pleasures -- sports, games, vacations, new friends, loving interactions -- need to figure in your experience now. But what part of your being most requires this rejuvenation? The answer lies with the Sun, which is being invited into development during this playful time of renewal and discovery.

How is the progressed Moon currently impacting on you? It is trine your natal Sun: Oct 6, 2007. In thinking about this, remember that progressions are slow-motion events, and that this event simply peaks then; it will be affecting your mood for a period of two or three months on either side of that date.

The Sun, as astronomers tell us, is the center of the solar system. Everything spins around it. With its enormous gravity, the Sun holds the entire system together. In a parallel way, the astrological Sun represents the gravitational center of your personality. Your ego. Your identity. The part of you that gets up in the morning and, without even a single sip of coffee, knows its name, rank, and serial number. Those same astronomers inform us that without the Sun's radiant energy, life as we understand it would cease to exist. Again, astrological meaning follows astronomical fact: the Sun symbolizes that spark of life inside you, your elemental vitality. Enthusiasm, energy, recuperative powers -- all these are solar themes. Thus, when the natal Sun is triggered in an important way, two critical questions come up for review: who are you, and what really makes you want to get out of bed in the morning?

Your Ninth House engaged us previously in the report. Now we see it turned on again, indicating that your natural adventuresomeness and philosophical curiosity are at the heart of the present situation. Sometimes chances must be taken and leaps of faith made. This is such a time. Learn something new. Take a vacation to somewhere you've never been. In the spirit of the Sun, blow out the cobwebs.

When the Sun interacts with the Moon, your "head" and your "heart" are experiencing some complications in their relationship. The key to a peaceful resolution of the issue lies in each being heard and each being willing to bend a little. Your lunar need for self-nurture must be balanced with your solar responsibilities and sense of destiny. Your hardheaded reasonableness must be open to the "trans-rational" side of life, where happiness really lies. Compromise and balance are the essence of such an event.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a trine -- traditionally seen as a "good" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply enhancing or supportive. Generally speaking, with trines there is an opportunity...but to seize it, you must supply the initiative.

Tr. Jupiter is Trine Mercury

In effect: Nov 8, 2007 - Nov 17, 2007

Peak Date(s): Nov 13, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is trine your natal Mercury. The action peaks Nov 13, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with Mercury, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

The natal Mercury -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your intelligence, your capacity to communicate, and your fundamental curiosity.

Your Tenth House came up earlier; now we see it in the spotlight again, once more informing us that the deepest, most essential factors in the situation we're considering all revolve around your role in the world -- your profession or job, your political (or metapolitical!) activities...in general, the image that strangers have of you. And what do right choices look like here? A large part of the answer lies with Mercury, a planet we described above, whose basic nature and values underlie what we might call your "Cosmic Job Description."

When Mercury hobnobs with Jupiter, an attitude of expansiveness (Jupiter) pervades the mind (Mercury). You are challenged now, like an optimistic Sherlock Holmes, to be alert to possibilities. Think inventively, think positively, and think big: that's the spirit. In some way, you have been underestimating your intelligence, verbal skills, or general competence. Recognize that, and change it.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a trine -- traditionally seen as a "good" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply enhancing or supportive. Generally speaking, with trines there is an opportunity...but to seize it, you must supply the initiative.

Tr. Jupiter is Square Saturn

In effect: Dec 5, 2007 - Dec 13, 2007

Peak Date(s): Dec 9, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is square your natal Saturn. The action peaks Dec 9, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with Saturn, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

The natal Saturn -- that, as we have seen, symbolizes your capacity for self-discipline and patience. Generally, it marks an area where you will be challenged to achieve excellence...or tempted to give up and sink into sorrow and self-pity.

Your Eleventh House played a role earlier in the report; now we see it in the limelight again, once more telling us that your skill in forming necessary alliances and coalitions lies at the heart of the situation we're considering. Two reflections emerge. The first is that to succeed here you need to use all your social and political deftness...you can't do it alone, and the people upon whom you must rely are, to put it charitably, "human." The second is that to set appropriate priorities you must think deeply about what you want...which is to say, you need to know exactly what is worth fighting for and what you are willing to sacrifice. One hint: for you, the right answers nearly always have the tone of Saturn, a planet we described above.

When Jupiter interacts with Saturn, you experience an odd confluence of providential fortune (Jupiter) and daunting impediments (Saturn). Essentially, something very good is available to you now, but to attain it you must undertake a Herculean effort. More profoundly, that effort itself will crystallize a very specific transformation in you: it will grant you the dignity of your advancing maturity.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a square -- traditionally seen as a "bad" aspect, but more accurately seen as simply frictional. Squares generally suggest tough choices, external pressures, and at least some stress.

Tr. Jupiter is Sextile Ascendant

In effect: Dec 18, 2007 - Dec 27, 2007

Peak Date(s): Dec 22, 2007

Jupiter figured earlier in this analysis. Now we meet it again. As you may recall, this is the planet of possibilities and the seizing of opportunities. Jupiter currently is sextile your natal Ascendant. The action peaks Dec 22, 2007.

Let's first understand that the action is in the Second House, for that's where Jupiter is currently located in your chart. We've met this house before. As you may recall, it has to do with self-confidence, especially when that confidence is rooted in your personal resources - - and that means more than just money. The time has come to act in the spirit of Jupiter, as we just described it, and to claim the skills and material you need. But what's the point? What are the real questions? The answer lies with the Ascendant, which is being invited into development during this time of solidification and consolidation in your life.

The natal Ascendant -- that, as we have seen, represents your style, how you go about translating your inner worlds into the two-dimensional framework of daily social interactions.

The two factors, as we mentioned, are linked by a sextile -- traditionally seen as a "harmonious" or "mutually enhancing" aspect, often full of fast-paced events and emotional stimulation.

The Details

In the mood for Mardi Gras? If you live in Chicago, it helps to know that New Orleans lies to the south. Head west or east and you'll never arrive . . .

What we've done in the previous pages is to show you the direction to New Orleans. We've looked at the big astrological themes that are affecting you this year . . .

As a reminder, at the beginning of our analysis of each month's events we'll make reference to any major configurations covered previously which happen to be reaching peaks of intensity then -- and please recall that some of them will have more than a single peak during the report period. There won't be any more analysis; just an allusion to the events so you can go back and review the earlier material, and see the patterns of the month in the light of the year's heavier transits and progressions.

Please remember that the fleeting, often forgettable influences we discuss in the following pages must always draw their real meaning from the far more monumental events we've already described. A "discussion with the boss," for example, is going to take on particular significance during a month when your whole career is up for grabs!

These minor transits unfold quickly. It's a rare week that doesn't contain at least a few. A report that discussed them all in the kind of microscopic detail we've applied to the major events would be several inches thick. In order to cover the daily astrological kaleidoscope within the practical limitations of the space available, we've resorted to producing capsulized one-sentence nuggets that compress a lot of information into a few words. So, slow down, shift gears, and let them wash over you. Think of these images more as daily meditations than as the kind of full-blown explanations to which you've gotten accustomed in the previous sections of SKYLOG.

One brief reminder: remember that many astrological events have not one but several peaks of intensity, so you may find a given "Invitation" or "Means" coming up several times in the pages that follow.

Even minor astrological events commonly have an impact over several days. In the following month-by-month analysis, configurations are listed chronologically according to the days they "peak" -- but don't take that date narrowly. The most colorful events and profoundest realizations might easily occur a day or two later or earlier.

January Invitation Peaks

Jan 21, 2007 - Tr. Neptune opposes Pluto

Jan 25, 2007 - Tr. Pluto squares Saturn

January Mean Peaks

Jan 04, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter squares Moon

Jan 10, 2007 - Tr. Uranus trines Mars

Jan 10, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter squares Venus

Jan 31, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Jupiter

January The Details

Jan 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Venus

Keywords: inventive nature enhances your usual work-oriented relating.

Jan 01, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Pluto

Keywords: self-assured swordsmanship enhances your usual vocational investigation.

Jan 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Uranus

Keywords: curious identity opposes your inborn routine-shattering autonomy.

Jan 02, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Saturn

Keywords: open-minded affection supports your typical visionary integrity.

Jan 02, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Moon

Keywords: inventive conversation excites your native self-protective attitude.

Jan 02, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Sun

Keywords: intelligent relating is in tension with your inherent exploratory personality.

Jan 02, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Mars

Keywords: curious nature is in tension with your inherent routine-shattering courage.

Jan 03, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Venus

Keywords: intelligent conversation supports your typical career relating.

Jan 03, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Uranus

Keywords: clever communication is in tension with your inherent adventuresome autonomy.

Jan 04, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Mars

Keywords: curious conversation opposes your inborn intellectually hungry assertiveness.

Jan 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Jupiter

Keywords: clever identity clashes with your instinctive supportive gambling.

Jan 05, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Jupiter

Keywords: intelligent conversation clashes with your instinctive responsible exuberance.

Jan 06, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Mercury

Keywords: self-confident courage enhances your usual professional communication.

Jan 07, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Neptune

Keywords: intelligent communication conflicts with your instinctive withdrawn contemplation.

Jan 07, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Neptune

Keywords: clever nature clashes with your instinctive private inspiration.

Jan 09, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Midheaven

Venus: Goddess of Love, Goddess of Peace...in her fast transits around your chart, she offers you counsel and support, sometimes through friendship, sometimes through more romantic kinds of intimacy. Her arrival at a sensitive zone also suggests that a time has come to relax and to receive solace or comfort, or to recharge your inner batteries through the perception of beauty. People come warmly into your space; a chance to "let your hair down" arises; paintings, music, and Technicolor sunsets abound.

Venus aligns with your Fourth House cusp, the very bottom of your birthchart, Jan 09, 2007. As you might imagine, this point, being buried, represents inward, psychological experience, and often puts emphasis on the home or family. Claim renewal for yourself now, and hold quiet counsel with yourself. Don't let the pressure of events drive you faster than is good for you; you don't need rest so much now as active silence. Vision is rising up in you, if you let it. To attune yourself to this new enlivening, get away from society; be alone, or be with people in your own inner circle -- your real "family" -- and do it in the spirit of Venus. That will put you in the proper attitude of receptivity.

Jan 10, 2007 at 11:05 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

The Moon in a month passes through all twelve houses of your chart. In so doing, it correlates with the passing whimsies of mood. One afternoon you're bright and cheery, the following morning you're blue...but energetic again after lunch. It doesn't amount to much, and it's not really very important in practical terms -- with one exception: the passage of the Moon through the Twelfth House. During that time you are going through a kind of emotional moulting, ending one cycle and preparing to begin another. Your attentions and energies are turned inward. Accept that, handle it well, and the period -- usually a couple of days -- is quiet and contemplative. It may even be rather pleasant. But if you try to keep up your normal level of activity, you'll find yourself confused, flat, and prone to dumb accidents. So when the Moon enters your Twelfth House, make sure that you have some unstructured time. Minimize distractions. Put off any significant new beginnings for a couple of days. And take a few unhurried breaths. This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House Jan 10, 2007 at 11:05 AM, and emerges Jan 12, 2007 at 08:58 AM, when a new emotional cycle begins.

Jan 13, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Saturn

Keywords: self-assured assertiveness clashes with your instinctive priority-clarifying composure.

Jan 14, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Saturn

Keywords: clever dialog enhances your usual group-dynamical integrity.

Jan 14, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Sun

Keywords: verbal dialog opposes your inborn intellectually hungry identity.

Jan 15, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: sensitive human connection excites your native dutiful gambling.

Jan 17, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Neptune

Keywords: watchful affection enhances your usual spiritually open imagination.

Jan 18, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Saturn

Keywords: intelligent personality enhances your usual goal-oriented integrity.

Jan 18, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Sun

Keywords: verbal identity is in tension with your inherent questing personality.

Jan 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Pluto

Keywords: cautious affection opposes your inborn career honesty.

Jan 19, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Midheaven

The mythological Mercury is the "Messenger of the Gods." The same is true of the transiting Mercury, which speeds around your chart, prompting conversations, dialogs, and sermons, both outgoing and incoming. It triggers the arrival of letters, faxes, and phone calls, and provokes the weaving of new data into your viewpoint. When it arrives at a sensitive point, your task is to listen, to ask questions, and to share intelligence.

Mercury aligns with your Fourth House cusp, the very bottom of your birthchart, Jan 19, 2007. As you might imagine, this point, being buried, represents inward, psychological experience, and often puts emphasis on the home or family. Claim renewal for yourself now, and hold quiet counsel with yourself. Don't let the pressure of events drive you faster than is good for you; you don't need rest so much now as active silence. Vision is rising up in you, if you let it. To attune yourself to this new enlivening, get away from society; be alone, or be with people in your own inner circle -- your real "family" -- and do it in the spirit of Mercury. That will put you in the proper attitude of receptivity.

Jan 21, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Mercury

Keywords: psychologically sophisticated affection opposes your inborn vocational conversation.

Jan 23, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: cautious dialog excites your native helpful exuberance.

Jan 25, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Neptune

Keywords: psychologically sophisticated dialog enhances your usual quiet inspiration.

Jan 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Pluto

Keywords: watchful communication is in tension with your inherent work-oriented investigation.

Jan 27, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Midheaven

The transiting Sun is like a huge, dumb battery. Whatever it touches, it electrifies -- but never for very long or very deeply. That's simply because it's a fast-moving factor, never staying anywhere long enough to develop true depth or complexity of meaning. In a year, it circuits the chart once...which leaves it only a few days to spend in each of your chart's many sensitive zones. Whatever it touches, however, is temporarily pushed into action. And sometimes, if more serious astro-psychological energies have been building or brewing in that area of your life, the Sun's transit over that point might just be the trigger that sets big wheels turning. The critical point is that the Sun represents your ego, and when it collides with sensitive territories you need to act accordingly: not "egocentrically," but with an awareness of your rights, your needs, and your desires.

Sun aligns with your Fourth House cusp, the very bottom of your birthchart, Jan 27, 2007. As you might imagine, this point, being buried, represents inward, psychological experience, and often puts emphasis on the home or family. Claim renewal for yourself now, and hold quiet counsel with yourself. Don't let the pressure of events drive you faster than is good for you; you don't need rest so much now as active silence. Vision is rising up in you, if you let it. To attune yourself to this new enlivening, get away from society; be alone, or be with people in your own inner circle -- your real "family" -- and do it in the spirit of Sun. That will put you in the proper attitude of receptivity.

Jan 28, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Mercury

Keywords: watchful conversation opposes your inborn vocational communication.

Jan 28, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Moon

Keywords: intelligent swordsmanship stimulates your normal emotional sensitivity.

Jan 30, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Venus

Keywords: open-minded swordsmanship enhances your usual work-oriented relating.

Jan 31, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Uranus

Keywords: open-minded courage is in tension with your inherent expansive autonomy.

February Invitation Peaks

Feb 05, 2007 - Tr. Saturn conjuncts Mercury

February Mean Peaks

Feb 20, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter sextiles Neptune

February The Details

Feb 01, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Mars

Keywords: curious assertiveness is in tension with your inherent questing swordsmanship.

Feb 03, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: watchful nature excites your native painstaking opportunity.

Feb 04, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Moon

Keywords: watchful affection fuses with your natural emotional sensitivity.

Feb 04, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Jupiter

Keywords: intelligent assertiveness clashes with your instinctive painstaking gambling.

Feb 05, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Venus

Keywords: sensitive affection opposes your inborn professional human connection.

Feb 05, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Uranus

Keywords: imaginative relating supports your typical expansive originality.

Feb 06, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Neptune

Keywords: sensitive personality enhances your usual meditative contemplation.

Feb 06, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Mars

Keywords: child-like relating supports your typical exploratory courage.

Feb 06, 2007 at 07:01 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Feb 06, 2007 at 07:01 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Feb 08, 2007 at 05:02 PM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Feb 07, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Pluto

Keywords: self-protective personality opposes your inborn work-oriented intensity.

Feb 08, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Neptune

Keywords: verbal courage conflicts with your instinctive quiet inspiration.

Feb 10, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Moon

Keywords: watchful communication fuses with your natural emotional attitude.

Feb 11, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Mercury

Keywords: self-protective identity is in tension with your inherent professional conversation.

Feb 13, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Venus

Keywords: sensitive dialog is in tension with your inherent vocational relating.

Feb 14, 2007 at 04:38 AM - Mercury turns Retrograde

Three, maybe four times in the course of a year, the planet Mercury spends three weeks or so going backwards in the sky, a period we call Mercury Retrograde. Practicality sometimes intervenes, but to the extent that you can arrange it, you are better off if you can avoid signing anything important during this period, buying anything mechanical (unless its failure would be of trivial consequence), initiating travel, or attempting significant communications by phone or mail. This, of course, is a lot to ask; and sticking to it too firmly starts to verge on Cosmic Paranoia. Still, there is a heightened tendency for objects, messages, and plans to go awry during this Retrograde time. Sometimes a little patience exercised now will make your life a lot easier in the long run. If steps simply must be taken, it doesn't mean everything is doomed to failure...just keep duplicates, have backups, double-check everything, and be prepared for petty annoyances. The first appearance of a Retrograde Mercury during the period of this report occurs Feb 14, 2007 at 04:38 AM. Those conditions persist until Mercury again goes "Direct" sometime after the report period..

Feb 14, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Venus

Keywords: emotional communication is in tension with your inherent professional human connection.

Feb 18, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Moon

Keywords: psychologically sophisticated dialog fuses with your natural self-protective sensitivity.

Feb 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Saturn

Keywords: imaginative human connection is in tension with your inherent priority-clarifying integrity.

Feb 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Sun

Keywords: playful relating enhances your usual exploratory nature.

Feb 23, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Saturn

Keywords: inventive assertiveness enhances your usual goal-oriented composure.

Feb 23, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Sun

Keywords: inventive courage is in tension with your inherent questing identity.

Feb 27, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Moon

Keywords: cautious personality combines with your characteristic psychologically sophisticated attitude.

March Invitation Peaks

Mar 23, 2007 - Tr. Saturn conjuncts Pluto

March Mean Peaks

Mar 11, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Pluto

March The Details

Mar 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Venus

Keywords: psychologically sophisticated identity is in tension with your inherent employment-oriented affection.

Mar 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Uranus

Keywords: self-expressive identity supports your typical routine-shattering originality.

Mar 02, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Uranus

Keywords: responsible relating conflicts with your instinctive exploratory autonomy.

Mar 02, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Mars

Keywords: spontaneous nature enhances your usual intellectually hungry courage.

Mar 03, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Mars

Keywords: competent relating conflicts with your instinctive routine-shattering swordsmanship.

Mar 04, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Jupiter

Keywords: painstaking affection combines with your characteristic dutiful opportunity.

Mar 06, 2007 at 02:11 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Mar 06, 2007 at 02:11 AM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Mar 08, 2007 at 00:09 AM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Mar 07, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Neptune

Keywords: helpful relating opposes your inborn reclusive contemplation.

Mar 07, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Midheaven

Mars, the God of War, is transiting through sensitive territories for you, suggesting some turbulent waters to be navigated. Always the trick with the red planet lies in realizing that the time has come to overcome a fear or a resistance in yourself, and to take what is legitimately yours. Your blood is up, and that's not a bad thing, unless you "chicken out" and misdirect the Martian energy toward some inappropriate target.

Mars aligns with your Fourth House cusp, the very bottom of your birthchart, Mar 07, 2007. As you might imagine, this point, being buried, represents inward, psychological experience, and often puts emphasis on the home or family. Claim renewal for yourself now, and hold quiet counsel with yourself. Don't let the pressure of events drive you faster than is good for you; you don't need rest so much now as active silence. Vision is rising up in you, if you let it. To attune yourself to this new enlivening, get away from society; be alone, or be with people in your own inner circle -- your real "family" -- and do it in the spirit of Mars. That will put you in the proper attitude of receptivity.

Mar 08, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Pluto

Keywords: painstaking relating supports your typical on-the-job intensity.

Mar 11, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Mercury

Keywords: competent human connection enhances your usual employment-oriented dialog.

Mar 16, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: cautious swordsmanship excites your native competent exuberance.

Mar 16, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Sun

Keywords: competent affection conflicts with your instinctive questing identity.

Mar 18, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Ascendant

The transiting Venus emerges again, suggesting experiences coming to you centered on other people with whom you are involved, and also encouraging you to relax and release tension now, perhaps with the help of music, art, or natural beauty.

Venus enters your Seventh House Mar 18, 2007. Traditionally the "House of Marriage," the Seventh House is actually a reference to anyone and everyone with whom you are open to intimacy. Whenever this part of the chart is stimulated, it's a signal that someone is coming into your life to adjust your attitude or your course, and that the adjustment is quite necessary and appropriate. Who is this person, and what is the message? We don't know exactly, but here's a clue: he, she, or it looks, feels, and sounds a lot like Venus. One bottom line: the quality of your deepest human connections profoundly affects the quality of your life, and at least one of these human connections needs some attention during these days.

Mar 18, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Saturn

Keywords: child-like identity opposes your inborn priority-clarifying solitude.

Mar 19, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Sun

Keywords: imaginative nature supports your typical exploratory personality.

Mar 20, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Neptune

Keywords: sensitive swordsmanship supports your typical private inspiration.

Mar 22, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Pluto

Keywords: cautious courage opposes your inborn professional intensity.

Mar 25, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Moon

Keywords: empathetic relating excites your native emotional attitude.

Mar 26, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Venus

Keywords: cooperative human connection supports your typical on-the-job relating.

Mar 26, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Uranus

Keywords: interpersonally sensitive human connection stimulates your normal questing individuality.

Mar 27, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Mercury

Keywords: psychologically sophisticated courage is in tension with your inherent career dialog.

Mar 27, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Moon

Keywords: emotional conversation combines with your characteristic self-protective attitude.

Mar 27, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Mars

Keywords: collaborative affection stimulates your normal intellectually hungry assertiveness.

Mar 28, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Venus

Keywords: self-protective communication opposes your inborn professional affection.

Mar 28, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Uranus

Keywords: creative conversation enhances your usual intellectually hungry autonomy.

Mar 29, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Mars

Keywords: playful conversation enhances your usual intellectually hungry swordsmanship.

Mar 31, 2007 - Pluto turns Retrograde (at 28°Sg58' in your 02nd House)

Aspects: Trine Mercury, Square Saturn, Sextile Ascendant.

Mar 31, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Uranus

Keywords: dutiful identity conflicts with your instinctive intellectually hungry originality.

April Invitation Peaks

Apr 22, 2007 - Pr. Moon opposes Pr. Sun

April Mean Peaks

(None this month.)

April The Details

Apr 02, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Mars

Keywords: supportive identity clashes with your instinctive adventuresome courage.

Apr 02, 2007 at 08:32 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Apr 02, 2007 at 08:32 AM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Apr 04, 2007 at 06:28 AM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Apr 02, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Pluto

Keywords: collaborative human connection clashes with your instinctive vocational honesty.

Apr 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Jupiter

Keywords: helpful personality combines with your characteristic competent gambling.

Apr 05, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Mercury

Keywords: collaborative relating conflicts with your instinctive vocational conversation.

Apr 06, 2007 - Jupiter turns Retrograde (at 19°Sg47' in your 02nd House)

Aspects: Trine Mercury, Trine Jupiter, Sextile Neptune, Trine Pluto.

Apr 07, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Neptune

Keywords: competent personality is in tension with your inherent meditative inspiration.

Apr 09, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Pluto

Keywords: dutiful nature enhances your usual on-the-job honesty.

Apr 09, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Saturn

Keywords: spontaneous conversation opposes your inborn long-term composure.

Apr 09, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Sun

Keywords: spontaneous communication enhances your usual questing personality.

Apr 10, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Saturn

Keywords: caring affection supports your typical goal-oriented solitude.

Apr 10, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Sun

Keywords: interpersonally sensitive human connection stimulates your normal exploratory nature.

Apr 12, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Mercury

Keywords: responsible personality enhances your usual employment-oriented communication.

Apr 17, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Uranus

Keywords: painstaking dialog conflicts with your instinctive expansive originality.

Apr 17, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Mars

Keywords: competent communication conflicts with your instinctive routine-shattering swordsmanship.

Apr 18, 2007 - Tr. Mars conjuncts Moon

Keywords: emotional swordsmanship combines with your characteristic psychologically sophisticated awareness.

Apr 18, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Sun

Keywords: responsible identity conflicts with your instinctive questing nature.

Apr 19, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Jupiter

Keywords: responsible conversation fuses with your natural competent exuberance.

Apr 19, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Venus

Keywords: self-protective swordsmanship opposes your inborn vocational relating.

Apr 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Moon

Keywords: probing affection conflicts with your instinctive psychologically sophisticated sensitivity.

Apr 19, 2007 - Saturn goes Direct (at 18°Le09' in your 10th House)

Aspects: Conjunct Mercury, Trine Jupiter, Sextile Neptune, Conjunct Pluto.

Apr 20, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Uranus

Keywords: imaginative assertiveness supports your typical intellectually hungry autonomy.

Apr 20, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Neptune

Keywords: responsible conversation opposes your inborn reclusive contemplation.

Apr 20, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Venus

Keywords: emotionally brave human connection conflicts with your instinctive career affection.

Apr 21, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Ascendant

The transiting Sun again -- this is the big searchlight that shines on each part of your chart in the course of a year, seeing if there's anything there that's just waiting for a little push...

Sun enters your Seventh House Apr 21, 2007. Traditionally the "House of Marriage," the Seventh House is actually a reference to anyone and everyone with whom you are open to intimacy. Whenever this part of the chart is stimulated, it's a signal that someone is coming into your life to adjust your attitude or your course, and that the adjustment is quite necessary and appropriate. Who is this person, and what is the message? We don't know exactly, but here's a clue: he, she, or it looks, feels, and sounds a lot like Sun. One bottom line: the quality of your deepest human connections profoundly affects the quality of your life, and at least one of these human connections needs some attention during these days.

Apr 21, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Pluto

Keywords: competent conversation supports your typical professional honesty.

Apr 21, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Mars

Keywords: playful courage supports your typical adventuresome assertiveness.

Apr 23, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Mercury

Keywords: supportive dialog enhances your usual professional communication.

Apr 24, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: penetratingly real relating excites your native painstaking gambling.

Apr 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Sun

Keywords: helpful communication clashes with your instinctive routine-shattering personality.

Apr 26, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Neptune

Keywords: psychologically deep relating supports your typical quiet contemplation.

Apr 27, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Ascendant

The transiting Mercury surfaces again...this, as you may recall, is the harbinger of messages and new information to which you need to pay attention.

Mercury enters your Seventh House Apr 27, 2007. Traditionally the "House of Marriage," the Seventh House is actually a reference to anyone and everyone with whom you are open to intimacy. Whenever this part of the chart is stimulated, it's a signal that someone is coming into your life to adjust your attitude or your course, and that the adjustment is quite necessary and appropriate. Who is this person, and what is the message? We don't know exactly, but here's a clue: he, she, or it looks, feels, and sounds a lot like Mercury. One bottom line: the quality of your deepest human connections profoundly affects the quality of your life, and at least one of these human connections needs some attention during these days.

Apr 28, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Pluto

Keywords: passionate affection excites your native professional honesty.

Apr 29, 2007 at 02:35 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Apr 29, 2007 at 02:35 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins May 01, 2007 at 12:33 PM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Apr 29, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Moon

Keywords: interpersonally sensitive nature stimulates your normal psychologically sophisticated sensitivity.

Apr 30, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Venus

Keywords: collaborative personality enhances your usual professional affection.

May Invitation Peaks

May 17, 2007 - Tr. Saturn conjuncts Pluto

May Mean Peaks

May 01, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Pluto

May 20, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter sextiles Neptune

May The Details

May 01, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Mercury

Keywords: spooky affection stimulates your normal employment-oriented conversation.

May 01, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Moon

Keywords: empathetic dialog excites your native self-protective awareness.

May 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Uranus

Keywords: interpersonally sensitive nature excites your native expansive individuality.

May 02, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Venus

Keywords: empathetic conversation enhances your usual on-the-job affection.

May 02, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Uranus

Keywords: interpersonally sensitive communication stimulates your normal routine-shattering originality.

May 02, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Mars

Keywords: collaborative nature excites your native adventuresome assertiveness.

May 02, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Mars

Keywords: collaborative communication stimulates your normal routine-shattering swordsmanship.

May 06, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Pluto

Keywords: empathetic conversation conflicts with your instinctive work-oriented intensity.

May 06, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Saturn

Keywords: passionate human connection conflicts with your instinctive strategic integrity.

May 07, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Mercury

Keywords: caring communication conflicts with your instinctive professional conversation.

May 09, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Pluto

Keywords: empathetic personality conflicts with your instinctive on-the-job honesty.

May 10, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Saturn

Keywords: caring communication enhances your usual strategic solitude.

May 10, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Sun

Keywords: loving dialog stimulates your normal expansive identity.

May 12, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Saturn

Keywords: child-like courage is in tension with your inherent goal-oriented composure.

May 13, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Mercury

Keywords: empathetic personality conflicts with your instinctive professional dialog.

May 13, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Sun

Keywords: spontaneous swordsmanship enhances your usual routine-shattering identity.

May 15, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Moon

Keywords: emotionally brave dialog clashes with your instinctive emotional sensitivity.

May 16, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Moon

Keywords: intellectually hungry human connection supports your typical emotional attitude.

May 16, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Venus

Keywords: probing dialog conflicts with your instinctive professional human connection.

May 17, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Venus

Keywords: intellectually hungry relating stimulates your normal vocational human connection.

May 18, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: expansive human connection combines with your characteristic adventuresome autonomy.

May 18, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: emotionally brave communication stimulates your normal helpful opportunity.

May 19, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Saturn

Keywords: loving personality enhances your usual visionary composure.

May 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Mars

Keywords: exploratory human connection combines with your characteristic expansive swordsmanship.

May 19, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Sun

Keywords: cooperative personality stimulates your normal intellectually hungry nature.

May 20, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Neptune

Keywords: psychologically deep communication supports your typical withdrawn contemplation.

May 21, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Jupiter

Keywords: intellectually hungry affection conflicts with your instinctive responsible exuberance.

May 21, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Pluto

Keywords: probing communication stimulates your normal vocational intensity.

May 23, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Mercury

Keywords: passionate communication stimulates your normal professional conversation.

May 23, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Neptune

Keywords: routine-shattering relating clashes with your instinctive meditative contemplation.

May 24, 2007 - Neptune turns Retrograde (at 22°Aq02' in your 04th House)

Aspects: Opposite Mercury, Trine Neptune, Opposite Pluto.

May 26, 2007 at 09:05 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again May 26, 2007 at 09:05 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins May 28, 2007 at 07:03 PM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

May 27, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Saturn

Keywords: probing conversation conflicts with your instinctive long-term integrity.

May 29, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Uranus

Keywords: competent swordsmanship clashes with your instinctive expansive individuality.

May 30, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Moon

Keywords: spooky identity clashes with your instinctive watchful awareness.

May 31, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Mars

Keywords: competent courage conflicts with your instinctive adventuresome assertiveness.

June Invitation Peaks

Jun 10, 2007 - Tr. Pluto squares Saturn

Jun 28, 2007 - Tr. Saturn conjuncts Mercury

June Mean Peaks

Jun 14, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Jupiter

June The Details

Jun 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Venus

Keywords: spooky nature clashes with your instinctive employment-oriented relating.

Jun 03, 2007 - Tr. Mars conjuncts Jupiter

Keywords: competent assertiveness fuses with your natural painstaking gambling.

Jun 03, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Saturn

Keywords: routine-shattering affection excites your native long-term solitude.

Jun 03, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Sun

Keywords: exploratory human connection fuses with your natural questing identity.

Jun 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: psychologically deep nature excites your native responsible opportunity.

Jun 07, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Neptune

Keywords: dutiful swordsmanship opposes your inborn private imagination.

Jun 07, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Moon

Keywords: routine-shattering dialog supports your typical watchful awareness.

Jun 08, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Neptune

Keywords: penetratingly real nature supports your typical reclusive imagination.

Jun 09, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Pluto

Keywords: competent courage enhances your usual career intensity.

Jun 09, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Venus

Keywords: routine-shattering dialog excites your native employment-oriented relating.

Jun 10, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Pluto

Keywords: probing identity stimulates your normal vocational intensity.

Jun 11, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: questing communication fuses with your natural routine-shattering originality.

Jun 13, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Midheaven

The transiting Venus emerges again, suggesting experiences coming to you centered on other people with whom you are involved, and also encouraging you to relax and release tension now, perhaps with the help of music, art, or natural beauty.

Venus arrives at a conjunction with your Midheaven Jun 13, 2007, and that always suggests a time of public visibility or career-related activity. The Midheaven is the top of the chart and corresponds to the most outward, visible parts of your life. It's an active point, generally not very subtle. To make the most of it, pretend that "all the world's a stage" and that the part you're playing is that of Venus, as we just described it. Don't be shy. Ham it up a little, and make sure the people dozing in the back row don't miss any nuances.

Jun 13, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Mercury

Keywords: probing identity excites your native professional conversation.

Jun 14, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Mercury

Keywords: dutiful swordsmanship supports your typical career communication.

Jun 15, 2007 at 11:33 PM - Mercury turns Retrograde

Mercury is turning Retrograde again. We described this phenomenon earlier, and you might want to look back and review it. Basically, it's a good time to delay signing contracts, buying mechanical things, or attempting significant communications. Mercury turns Retrograde Jun 15, 2007 at 11:33 PM and remains that way until sometime after the report period..

Jun 19, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Saturn

Keywords: psychologically deep personality conflicts with your instinctive priority-clarifying composure.

Jun 20, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: expansive communication combines with your characteristic exploratory autonomy.

Jun 20, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Jupiter

Keywords: vocational relating enhances your usual painstaking gambling.

Jun 22, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Venus

Keywords: adventuresome communication stimulates your normal on-the-job human connection.

Jun 22, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Sun

Keywords: supportive assertiveness clashes with your instinctive exploratory personality.

Jun 23, 2007 at 04:25 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Jun 23, 2007 at 04:25 AM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Jun 25, 2007 at 02:18 AM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Jun 23, 2007 - Uranus turns Retrograde (at 18°Pi42' in your 05th House)

Aspects: Trine Mars.

Jun 24, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Neptune

Keywords: work-oriented human connection excites your native withdrawn contemplation.

Jun 24, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Moon

Keywords: adventuresome dialog supports your typical psychologically sophisticated sensitivity.

Jun 26, 2007 - Tr. Mars opposes Ascendant

The transiting Mars strikes again, implying that once more you find yourself in a brief season of assertiveness. Some conflict, inner or outer, requires working out, and now is the time...lest you become tense, argumentative, and difficult.

Mars enters your Seventh House Jun 26, 2007. Traditionally the "House of Marriage," the Seventh House is actually a reference to anyone and everyone with whom you are open to intimacy. Whenever this part of the chart is stimulated, it's a signal that someone is coming into your life to adjust your attitude or your course, and that the adjustment is quite necessary and appropriate. Who is this person, and what is the message? We don't know exactly, but here's a clue: he, she, or it looks, feels, and sounds a lot like Mars. One bottom line: the quality of your deepest human connections profoundly affects the quality of your life, and at least one of these human connections needs some attention during these days.

Jun 26, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Pluto

Keywords: professional relating fuses with your natural on-the-job investigation.

July Invitation Peaks

(None this month.)

July Mean Peaks

Jul 25, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter squares Venus

July The Details

Jul 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Moon

Keywords: exploratory personality enhances your usual emotional attitude.

Jul 01, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Mercury

Keywords: career relating fuses with your natural vocational conversation.

Jul 02, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Venus

Keywords: routine-shattering personality excites your native professional affection.

Jul 03, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: exploratory personality combines with your characteristic routine-shattering autonomy.

Jul 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Mars

Keywords: exploratory identity fuses with your natural routine-shattering courage.

Jul 06, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Jupiter

Keywords: intellectually hungry personality clashes with your instinctive painstaking gambling.

Jul 07, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Moon

Keywords: empathetic assertiveness excites your native psychologically sophisticated attitude.

Jul 09, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Venus

Keywords: cooperative courage enhances your usual vocational affection.

Jul 09, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Neptune

Keywords: intellectually hungry identity conflicts with your instinctive quiet imagination.

Jul 10, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Uranus

Keywords: loving swordsmanship stimulates your normal expansive individuality.

Jul 11, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Mars

Keywords: caring courage excites your native questing swordsmanship.

Jul 20, 2007 at 12:27 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Jul 20, 2007 at 12:27 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Jul 22, 2007 at 10:10 AM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Jul 20, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Saturn

Keywords: expansive personality excites your native goal-oriented composure.

Jul 21, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Sun

Keywords: adventuresome nature combines with your characteristic routine-shattering personality.

Jul 21, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Pluto

Keywords: loving assertiveness conflicts with your instinctive employment-oriented intensity.

Jul 22, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Moon

Keywords: adventuresome dialog enhances your usual psychologically sophisticated awareness.

Jul 23, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Venus

Keywords: expansive dialog excites your native work-oriented relating.

Jul 23, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: questing dialog combines with your characteristic intellectually hungry originality.

Jul 24, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Mars

Keywords: adventuresome conversation combines with your characteristic routine-shattering swordsmanship.

Jul 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Jupiter

Keywords: routine-shattering conversation clashes with your instinctive painstaking gambling.

Jul 26, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Mercury

Keywords: caring assertiveness clashes with your instinctive employment-oriented dialog.

Jul 28, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Neptune

Keywords: exploratory conversation clashes with your instinctive private contemplation.

Jul 30, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Midheaven

The transiting Sun again -- this is the big searchlight that shines on each part of your chart in the course of a year, seeing if there's anything there that's just waiting for a little push...

Sun arrives at a conjunction with your Midheaven Jul 30, 2007, and that always suggests a time of public visibility or career-related activity. The Midheaven is the top of the chart and corresponds to the most outward, visible parts of your life. It's an active point, generally not very subtle. To make the most of it, pretend that "all the world's a stage" and that the part you're playing is that of Sun, as we just described it. Don't be shy. Ham it up a little, and make sure the people dozing in the back row don't miss any nuances.

August Invitation Peaks

(None this month.)

August Mean Peaks

Aug 20, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter squares Venus

August The Details

Aug 03, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Saturn

Keywords: adventuresome communication stimulates your normal priority-clarifying composure.

Aug 03, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Sun

Keywords: routine-shattering communication fuses with your natural intellectually hungry personality.

Aug 03, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Saturn

Keywords: collaborative assertiveness enhances your usual strategic composure.

Aug 04, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Sun

Keywords: caring swordsmanship stimulates your normal routine-shattering personality.

Aug 06, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Jupiter

Keywords: work-oriented identity supports your typical helpful gambling.

Aug 07, 2007 - Jupiter goes Direct (at 09°Sg56' in your 02nd House)

Aspects: Square Moon, Square Venus, Trine Jupiter, Trine Midheaven.

Aug 08, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Midheaven

The transiting Mercury surfaces again...this, as you may recall, is the harbinger of messages and new information to which you need to pay attention.

Mercury arrives at a conjunction with your Midheaven Aug 08, 2007, and that always suggests a time of public visibility or career-related activity. The Midheaven is the top of the chart and corresponds to the most outward, visible parts of your life. It's an active point, generally not very subtle. To make the most of it, pretend that "all the world's a stage" and that the part you're playing is that of Mercury, as we just described it. Don't be shy. Ham it up a little, and make sure the people dozing in the back row don't miss any nuances.

Aug 09, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Neptune

Keywords: work-oriented personality stimulates your normal withdrawn contemplation.

Aug 11, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Jupiter

Keywords: professional communication enhances your usual competent opportunity.

Aug 11, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Pluto

Keywords: professional nature fuses with your natural work-oriented investigation.

Aug 13, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Neptune

Keywords: career conversation stimulates your normal withdrawn contemplation.

Aug 13, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Pluto

Keywords: professional conversation fuses with your natural vocational honesty.

Aug 15, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Mercury

Keywords: employment-oriented nature combines with your characteristic on-the-job communication.

Aug 15, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Mercury

Keywords: vocational dialog combines with your characteristic work-oriented conversation.

Aug 16, 2007 at 08:32 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Aug 16, 2007 at 08:32 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Aug 18, 2007 at 06:05 PM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Aug 21, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Moon

Keywords: penetratingly real swordsmanship conflicts with your instinctive self-protective sensitivity.

Aug 22, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Mercury

Keywords: work-oriented human connection combines with your characteristic on-the-job dialog.

Aug 23, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Venus

Keywords: emotionally brave assertiveness clashes with your instinctive employment-oriented human connection.

Aug 24, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Moon

Keywords: on-the-job dialog opposes your inborn sensitive awareness.

Aug 24, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Venus

Keywords: professional dialog combines with your characteristic vocational relating.

Aug 25, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Uranus

Keywords: group-dynamical conversation excites your native adventuresome autonomy.

Aug 25, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Mars

Keywords: goal-oriented communication excites your native adventuresome swordsmanship.

Aug 29, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Pluto

Keywords: career affection fuses with your natural vocational honesty.

Aug 29, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Jupiter

Keywords: psychologically deep swordsmanship excites your native painstaking opportunity.

September Invitation Peaks

(None this month.)

September Mean Peaks

Sep 09, 2007 - Tr. Saturn sextiles Ascendant

Sep 27, 2007 - Pr. Moon opposes Saturn

Sep 28, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Jupiter

September The Details

Sep 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Moon

Keywords: work-oriented personality opposes your inborn sensitive attitude.

Sep 03, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Venus

Keywords: work-oriented nature fuses with your natural vocational human connection.

Sep 03, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Uranus

Keywords: strategic identity excites your native intellectually hungry autonomy.

Sep 03, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Neptune

Keywords: psychologically deep courage enhances your usual reclusive contemplation.

Sep 04, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Saturn

Keywords: visionary conversation combines with your characteristic long-term composure.

Sep 04, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Sun

Keywords: group-dynamical dialog excites your native expansive identity.

Sep 04, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Neptune

Keywords: on-the-job human connection excites your native private contemplation.

Sep 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Mars

Keywords: strategic nature excites your native exploratory courage.

Sep 07, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Pluto

Keywords: spooky assertiveness stimulates your normal professional intensity.

Sep 07, 2007 - Pluto goes Direct (at 26°Sg18' in your 02nd House)

Aspects: Trine Mercury, Square Saturn, Sextile Ascendant.

Sep 12, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Uranus

Keywords: spiritually open dialog conflicts with your instinctive intellectually hungry originality.

Sep 12, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Neptune

Keywords: vocational affection excites your native withdrawn inspiration.

Sep 13, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Mercury

Keywords: psychologically deep courage excites your native career communication.

Sep 13, 2007 at 03:58 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Sep 13, 2007 at 03:58 AM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Sep 15, 2007 at 01:29 AM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Sep 13, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Mars

Keywords: private conversation conflicts with your instinctive questing swordsmanship.

Sep 14, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Jupiter

Keywords: spiritually open dialog is in tension with your inherent competent opportunity.

Sep 16, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Neptune

Keywords: withdrawn communication fuses with your natural spiritually open contemplation.

Sep 18, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Pluto

Keywords: quiet conversation stimulates your normal work-oriented honesty.

Sep 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Pluto

Keywords: professional relating fuses with your natural vocational intensity.

Sep 20, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Mercury

Keywords: spiritually open conversation stimulates your normal vocational communication.

Sep 21, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Saturn

Keywords: priority-clarifying nature fuses with your natural strategic solitude.

Sep 21, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Sun

Keywords: long-term identity stimulates your normal adventuresome personality.

Sep 24, 2007 - Tr. Mars squares Saturn

Keywords: passionate assertiveness clashes with your instinctive group-dynamical solitude.

Sep 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Sun

Keywords: meditative conversation conflicts with your instinctive expansive identity.

Sep 26, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Mercury

Keywords: employment-oriented affection combines with your characteristic career communication.

Sep 28, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Ascendant

The transiting Mercury surfaces again...this, as you may recall, is the harbinger of messages and new information to which you need to pay attention.

Mercury arrives at a conjunction with your Ascendant Sep 28, 2007, and that always suggests a colorful, active few days. A new cycle of experience is beginning for you. It's not earth-shaking in its implications, but you'll be happier if you act positively in the spirit of Mercury. The ball is in your court. Decisive action, imprudent action, or inaction on your part now will have long-term effects, just as the experiences of childhood leave their mark on the adult character. Don't be afraid of a little apparent selfishness now. There are seasons of giving and seasons of taking; this one is for taking.

October Invitation Peaks

(None this month.)

October Mean Peaks

Oct 06, 2007 - Pr. Moon trines Sun

Oct 17, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter sextiles Neptune

Oct 27, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Pluto

October The Details

Oct 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Uranus

Keywords: quiet personality conflicts with your instinctive questing individuality.

Oct 05, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Mars

Keywords: meditative nature clashes with your instinctive exploratory courage.

Oct 07, 2007 - Tr. Sun opposes Jupiter

Keywords: spiritually open personality is in tension with your inherent responsible exuberance.

Oct 10, 2007 at 10:29 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Oct 10, 2007 at 10:29 AM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Oct 12, 2007 at 08:05 AM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Oct 10, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Neptune

Keywords: meditative identity fuses with your natural spiritually open imagination.

Oct 10, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Moon

Keywords: assertive conversation enhances your usual sensitive attitude.

Oct 12, 2007 at 03:52 AM - Mercury turns Retrograde

Mercury is turning Retrograde again. We described this phenomenon earlier, and you might want to look back and review it. Basically, it's a good time to delay signing contracts, buying mechanical things, or attempting significant communications. Mercury turns Retrograde Oct 12, 2007 at 03:52 AM and remains that way until sometime after the report period..

Oct 12, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Pluto

Keywords: reclusive personality stimulates your normal professional intensity.

Oct 13, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Moon

Keywords: commanding communication enhances your usual psychologically sophisticated awareness.

Oct 15, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Mercury

Keywords: withdrawn identity excites your native employment-oriented dialog.

Oct 18, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Moon

Keywords: vocational human connection is in tension with your inherent emotional attitude.

Oct 20, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Venus

Keywords: career relating fuses with your natural work-oriented human connection.

Oct 20, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Uranus

Keywords: goal-oriented relating stimulates your normal intellectually hungry autonomy.

Oct 21, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Sun

Keywords: spiritually open identity clashes with your instinctive intellectually hungry nature.

Oct 21, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Mars

Keywords: goal-oriented relating excites your native exploratory courage.

Oct 22, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Moon

Keywords: exploratory swordsmanship supports your typical sensitive sensitivity.

Oct 23, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Ascendant

The transiting Mercury surfaces again...this, as you may recall, is the harbinger of messages and new information to which you need to pay attention.

Mercury arrives at a conjunction with your Ascendant Oct 23, 2007, and that always suggests a colorful, active few days. A new cycle of experience is beginning for you. It's not earth-shaking in its implications, but you'll be happier if you act positively in the spirit of Mercury. The ball is in your court. Decisive action, imprudent action, or inaction on your part now will have long-term effects, just as the experiences of childhood leave their mark on the adult character. Don't be afraid of a little apparent selfishness now. There are seasons of giving and seasons of taking; this one is for taking.

Oct 24, 2007 - Tr. Sun conjuncts Ascendant

The transiting Sun again -- this is the big searchlight that shines on each part of your chart in the course of a year, seeing if there's anything there that's just waiting for a little push...

Sun arrives at a conjunction with your Ascendant Oct 24, 2007, and that always suggests a colorful, active few days. A new cycle of experience is beginning for you. It's not earth-shaking in its implications, but you'll be happier if you act positively in the spirit of Sun. The ball is in your court. Decisive action, imprudent action, or inaction on your part now will have long-term effects, just as the experiences of childhood leave their mark on the adult character. Don't be afraid of a little apparent selfishness now. There are seasons of giving and seasons of taking; this one is for taking.

Oct 25, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Sun

Keywords: withdrawn conversation conflicts with your instinctive adventuresome nature.

Oct 27, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Venus

Keywords: intellectually hungry assertiveness stimulates your normal professional human connection.

Oct 30, 2007 - Tr. Mars conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: intellectually hungry courage fuses with your natural adventuresome individuality.

Oct 31, 2007 - Neptune goes Direct (at 19°Aq15' in your 04th House)

Aspects: Opposite Mercury, Sextile Jupiter, Trine Neptune, Opposite Pluto.

November Invitation Peaks

Nov 23, 2007 - Pr. Moon enters Aries

Nov 26, 2007 - Tr. Pluto squares Saturn

November Mean Peaks

Nov 13, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter trines Mercury

November The Details

Nov 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Moon

Keywords: decisive nature enhances your usual emotional awareness.

Nov 03, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Venus

Keywords: commanding personality stimulates your normal career relating.

Nov 03, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Uranus

Keywords: commanding identity enhances your usual questing originality.

Nov 04, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Mars

Keywords: decisive personality enhances your usual intellectually hungry assertiveness.

Nov 06, 2007 - Tr. Mars conjuncts Mars

Keywords: intellectually hungry assertiveness combines with your characteristic expansive courage.

Nov 06, 2007 at 04:25 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Nov 06, 2007 at 04:25 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Nov 08, 2007 at 02:10 PM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Nov 06, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Saturn

Keywords: long-term affection fuses with your natural strategic solitude.

Nov 07, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Sun

Keywords: long-term affection stimulates your normal questing identity.

Nov 09, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Sun

Keywords: spiritually open conversation clashes with your instinctive adventuresome nature.

Nov 11, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Pluto

Keywords: commanding nature conflicts with your instinctive on-the-job honesty.

Nov 12, 2007 - Tr. Mercury conjuncts Ascendant

The transiting Mercury surfaces again...this, as you may recall, is the harbinger of messages and new information to which you need to pay attention.

Mercury arrives at a conjunction with your Ascendant Nov 12, 2007, and that always suggests a colorful, active few days. A new cycle of experience is beginning for you. It's not earth-shaking in its implications, but you'll be happier if you act positively in the spirit of Mercury. The ball is in your court. Decisive action, imprudent action, or inaction on your part now will have long-term effects, just as the experiences of childhood leave their mark on the adult character. Don't be afraid of a little apparent selfishness now. There are seasons of giving and seasons of taking; this one is for taking.

Nov 14, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Mercury

Keywords: authoritative nature clashes with your instinctive work-oriented communication.

Nov 17, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Moon

Keywords: authoritative conversation supports your typical sensitive attitude.

Nov 18, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Venus

Keywords: authoritative conversation stimulates your normal work-oriented relating.

Nov 18, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Uranus

Keywords: withdrawn affection conflicts with your instinctive intellectually hungry individuality.

Nov 19, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Uranus

Keywords: authoritative communication enhances your usual routine-shattering originality.

Nov 19, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Mars

Keywords: spiritually open affection conflicts with your instinctive expansive assertiveness.

Nov 19, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Mars

Keywords: decisive communication supports your typical routine-shattering courage.

Nov 20, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Saturn

Keywords: decisive identity stimulates your normal long-term solitude.

Nov 20, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Sun

Keywords: commanding identity enhances your usual questing personality.

Nov 21, 2007 - Tr. Venus opposes Jupiter

Keywords: withdrawn affection opposes your inborn competent opportunity.

Nov 24, 2007 - Tr. Mars conjuncts Mars

Keywords: exploratory courage fuses with your natural intellectually hungry swordsmanship.

Nov 24, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Neptune

Keywords: reclusive affection combines with your characteristic quiet inspiration.

Nov 24, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Pluto

Keywords: decisive dialog conflicts with your instinctive work-oriented honesty.

Nov 24, 2007 - Uranus goes Direct (at 14°Pi46' in your 05th House)

Aspects: Conjunct Moon, Opposite Venus, Trine Mars, Trine Uranus.

Nov 25, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Pluto

Keywords: meditative affection excites your native employment-oriented honesty.

Nov 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Mercury

Keywords: assertive dialog clashes with your instinctive on-the-job conversation.

Nov 28, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Mercury

Keywords: private relating excites your native on-the-job dialog.

Nov 30, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Saturn

Keywords: decisive communication stimulates your normal visionary solitude.

Nov 30, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Sun

Keywords: forceful conversation enhances your usual routine-shattering nature.

Nov 30, 2007 - Tr. Mars conjuncts Uranus

Keywords: exploratory courage combines with your characteristic intellectually hungry individuality.

December Invitation Peaks

Dec 26, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter enters Third House

December Mean Peaks

Dec 09, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter squares Saturn

Dec 22, 2007 - Tr. Jupiter sextiles Ascendant

December The Details

Dec 01, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Moon

Keywords: resourceful nature clashes with your instinctive cautious awareness.

Dec 02, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Venus

Keywords: self-assured nature conflicts with your instinctive work-oriented relating.

Dec 03, 2007 - Tr. Mars sextiles Venus

Keywords: intellectually hungry courage excites your native employment-oriented affection.

Dec 03, 2007 at 10:36 PM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Dec 03, 2007 at 10:36 PM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins Dec 05, 2007 at 08:23 PM. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.

Dec 03, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Sun

Keywords: meditative relating conflicts with your instinctive exploratory personality.

Dec 06, 2007 - Tr. Venus conjuncts Ascendant

The transiting Venus emerges again, suggesting experiences coming to you centered on other people with whom you are involved, and also encouraging you to relax and release tension now, perhaps with the help of music, art, or natural beauty.

Venus arrives at a conjunction with your Ascendant Dec 06, 2007, and that always suggests a colorful, active few days. A new cycle of experience is beginning for you. It's not earth-shaking in its implications, but you'll be happier if you act positively in the spirit of Venus. The ball is in your court. Decisive action, imprudent action, or inaction on your part now will have long-term effects, just as the experiences of childhood leave their mark on the adult character. Don't be afraid of a little apparent selfishness now. There are seasons of giving and seasons of taking; this one is for taking.

Dec 06, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Jupiter

Keywords: financially savvy identity enhances your usual painstaking gambling.

Dec 07, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Moon

Keywords: dignified communication clashes with your instinctive watchful attitude.

Dec 07, 2007 - Tr. Mars trines Moon

Keywords: routine-shattering assertiveness supports your typical self-protective awareness.

Dec 08, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Venus

Keywords: dignified dialog conflicts with your instinctive professional relating.

Dec 09, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Neptune

Keywords: dignified identity stimulates your normal private imagination.

Dec 10, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Jupiter

Keywords: resourceful communication enhances your usual painstaking opportunity.

Dec 11, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Pluto

Keywords: self-assured personality enhances your usual work-oriented honesty.

Dec 12, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Neptune

Keywords: resourceful conversation excites your native private inspiration.

Dec 13, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Moon

Keywords: resolute relating supports your typical self-protective attitude.

Dec 13, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Pluto

Keywords: dignified communication enhances your usual professional investigation.

Dec 14, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Venus

Keywords: resolute affection excites your native on-the-job human connection.

Dec 14, 2007 - Tr. Sun trines Mercury

Keywords: financially savvy personality enhances your usual employment-oriented dialog.

Dec 14, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Uranus

Keywords: authoritative human connection enhances your usual questing individuality.

Dec 15, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Mercury

Keywords: self-respecting dialog supports your typical career conversation.

Dec 15, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Mars

Keywords: decisive human connection enhances your usual exploratory swordsmanship.

Dec 19, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Saturn

Keywords: financially savvy dialog conflicts with your instinctive strategic integrity.

Dec 19, 2007 - Saturn turns Retrograde (at 08°Vi34' in your 10th House)

Aspects: Opposite Moon, Conjunct Venus, Sextile Mars, Sextile Uranus.

Dec 20, 2007 - Tr. Sun squares Saturn

Keywords: dignified identity conflicts with your instinctive long-term composure.

Dec 21, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Pluto

Keywords: commanding relating conflicts with your instinctive vocational intensity.

Dec 24, 2007 - Tr. Venus squares Mercury

Keywords: commanding relating clashes with your instinctive professional dialog.

Dec 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury sextiles Moon

Keywords: intelligent dialog excites your native self-protective awareness.

Dec 26, 2007 - Tr. Mercury trines Venus

Keywords: intelligent communication enhances your usual vocational affection.

Dec 27, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Uranus

Keywords: intelligent dialog opposes your inborn expansive originality.

Dec 28, 2007 - Tr. Mercury opposes Mars

Keywords: clever communication opposes your inborn routine-shattering swordsmanship.

Dec 28, 2007 - Tr. Venus sextiles Saturn

Keywords: authoritative human connection excites your native strategic composure.

Dec 29, 2007 - Tr. Venus trines Sun

Keywords: authoritative human connection enhances your usual expansive identity.

Dec 29, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Jupiter

Keywords: verbal dialog clashes with your instinctive painstaking opportunity.

Dec 31, 2007 - Tr. Sun sextiles Moon

Keywords: intelligent identity excites your native cautious attitude.

Dec 31, 2007 - Tr. Mercury squares Neptune

Keywords: curious conversation clashes with your instinctive withdrawn inspiration.

Dec 31, 2007 at 05:57 AM - Tr. Moon enters Twelfth House

This month, the transiting Moon crosses into your natal Twelfth House again Dec 31, 2007 at 05:57 AM. It emerges and a new emotional cycle begins sometime after the report period.. As we discussed earlier, this represents a brief period in which you serve your own ultimate interests best by relaxing a bit, taking some extra precautions against physical mishaps, and most importantly, delaying any major new starts, insofar as that's possible.